No Jews In Ex-German Colonies, Nazis Warn

BRITISH PLAN DRAWS BERLIN PRESS BLASTS

London Hears Germany Might Recall Ambassador; Nazi Leader Ducks Queries.

PRISON CAMPS OVERFLOW

New Ones Being Built While Wholesale Arrests of Jews Continues in Nation.

(By United Press)

BERLIN—The German press sharply warned Britain against using former German colonies as Jewish refuges today as Nazi concentration camps swelled with new arrests and a "stigma" was placed on Jews.

Reports in London that Germany might recall her ambassador, Herbert Von Dirksen, were met with the statement from a spokesman from the propaganda ministry that "nothing is known here."

Pressed for a denial he said: "How can one deny, if nothing whatsoever is known?" He then cautioned against interpreting his remarks as a confirmation.

The press asserted that the anti-Semetic campaign would be introduced shortly in Slovakia, an autonomous province of Czechoslovakia, which would adopt the Nunberg Jew laws."

In Berlin the pressure was being applied to collect the assessment costs against the Jews for Nazi riot damage. Rapid aryanization of Jewish business was also being pushed.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's statement proposing partial solution of the Jewish refuge problem by settlement of Jews in Tanganyika brought instant opposition.

"Strange as it is that again Tanganyika, in former German East Africa, was mentioned as a place for the settlement of Jews as though there were no other possibilities in the whole far flung British empire," the newspaper Tageblatt said.

"One asks why Chamberlain

Try to Teach Mt. Vernon Girl 'Prisoner' to Talk

The Truth But Not All of It

MADISON, Wis.—(AP)—Salesman who assured Sauk county residents that the stove they were selling won first prize at the Chicago world's fair were ordered to "cease and desist" by Ralph E. Ammon, director of the state department of agriculture and markets.

The agents neglected to specify, Ammon said, that the fair was the one held in 1893.

RUNS IN FRONT OF CAR, KILLED

Man Hit by Mansfielder's Automobile; Believed to Have Come From Bellaire.

A man about 60 years old, killed at 6:25 p. m. yesterday on U. S. route 30S, one mile east of Galion when he ran in front of an automobile was tentatively identified today as Buck Keyser of Bellaire.

State Highway Patrolman C. W. Cale said that the man was struck by an automobile driven by Kenneth W. Berkey, 45, of 596 Bigelow road, Mansfield, who was en route to his home here. Berkey was exonerated of all blame in the accident.

According to Cale, the victim was accompanied by three other men, all of whom were waiting to cross the road. Two of the men gave their names as Glen Savage, Anderson, Ind., and William O'Connell, Muncie, Ind. The third man ran from the scene of the accident.

Cale said he had obtained statements from Savage and O'Connell that all four had been drinking. They told the patrolman that they had just left the railroad tracks north of the highway and were headed for a barn across the road where they had intended to spend the night.

While they waited for the oncoming car to pass, they told the

Psychologists Study Child, 6, Who Knows Only 'Sign Talk.'

MOTHER IS MUTE

Authorities Told She Was Kept in Room All Her Life.

COLUMBUS—A psychologist and a phonetics teacher were busy at Children's hospital today seeking to teach 6-year-old Annabelle Barton of Mt. Vernon to talk.

Psychologists believed that within two years they could make a normal child of the girl who has spent most of her life isolated in one room with her mute mother, communicating in a sign language only they could understand.

Prepare For Operation.

The mother, Addie Belle Barton, 26, and the child, were separated today for the first time. Annabelle was in Children's hospital, being prepared for an operation to straighten her bowed legs.

The mother, unmarried, was cared for by relatives at Mt. Vernon. She has been a mute since the age of two, when she was struck in the eye with a shot from a B-B gun and was so terrified by the sight of an x-ray machine in a doctor's office that she lost her speech.

Ever since the child was born out of wedlock, Miss Barton had remained secluded in a bedroom of her parents' home. Neighbors did not know of the child's existence. Miss Barton's mother said that "sometimes, in the night, I have heard noises in her room and thought somebody was there, but when I went in to see, I found her talking in her sleep, saying words I could not understand."

Child Understood.

The child understood these sounds, and the signs by which she and her mother communicated.

Authorities first learned of the case several months ago when the mother visited Dr. Robert Eastman, a Mt. Vernon surgeon, at his office. She gesticulated mutely until the doctor understood that she wanted him to straighten her child's bowed legs. Oliver Farmer, probation officer, said he was still puzzled as to how the mother

FIND OUT YET?

Farley Ends Eastern Parleys to Study Dem Losses.

NEW YORK —(AP)— A conference of eastern and southern Democratic committeemen which inquired into the reasons for the party's losses in the November 8 elections was concluded today, and National Chairman James A. Farley completed plans for similar talks with western leaders in Chicago next Tuesday and Wednesday.

The discussions, he had said, were aimed in part to "clear up any misunderstandings within the party that may exist,"—An apparent reference to dissension that accompanied President Roosevelt's "purge" campaign in the Democratic primaries.

Summing up the conference, Lawrence W. (Chip) Robert, secretary of the national committee remarked smilingly:

"We wanted to find out where those bricks were thrown from."

COL. BACON DEAD

Crawford County Native Was Soldier On Mexican Border.

AKRON —(AP)— Col. Willis Bacon, 72, Akron soldier and lawyer, died today.

Born in Crawford county, Bacon graduated from high school in Tiffin, attended Heidelberg college and Depauw university, graduating from the latter in 1889. As an officer of the national guard, he saw service at the Mexican border and in France.

Asks Priority for Union Workers on School Jobs

Trades Council Delegation Tells Board Request Made 'Merely to Avoid Difficulty' on Projects.

The Mansfield Building Trades council, representing the city's electrical and building trades unions, last night requested that union workers be given preference for skilled jobs on the two $450,000 junior high schools to be built in the city within the next year.

The request was presented to the board of education by a delegation of four members of the council, headed by Lloyd E. Leaman, 105 Lida street, an electrician.

Seek Union Preference.

Asserting that they would oppose any employment of non-union labor on skilled jobs in the school building program "as long as union workers are idle," members of the delegation said they made their request "merely to avoid any difficulty on the jobs after they are started." They did not enlarge on this statement.

Leaman requested that a clause recommending the hiring of union men be included in the advertisements for construction bids on the two projects.

"We realize," he said, "that PWA requirements prohibit the board from demanding union workers, but the board can at least favor the employment of union men."

Leaman said there was no complaint about the wage scale, since it is set up by the federal government on PWA projects and the board of education or contractor has no authority to change it.

Without making any promises to the delegation, H. W. Arlin, president of the board, said he would ask PWA officials at Columbus as to the advisability of such a recommendation.

Italy Instructs 'Unfriendly' Chicago Newsman to Leave.

ROME —(AP)— Frank Smothers, Rome correspondent of the Chicago Daily News, was ordered today to leave Italy by Dec. 1 because of the "unfriendly" tone of his dispatches.

Smothers was given to understand the order could not be modified because of the "generally unfriendly tone" of his articles in the past.

The United States embassy made representations at the Italian foreign office in Smothers' behalf, but was informed the decision was irrevocable.

He is the seventh resident correspondent compelled to leave Italy in a little more than a year.

STUDIES BOND ISSUE TO KEEP SCHOOLS OPEN

Board Defers Action, Awaits Ruling on Further Notes Under Foundation Plan.

HAS FUNDS UNTIL DEC. 1

Miller Favors Closing Schools Rather Than Use Next Year's Revenue.

With the operation of Mansfield schools after Dec. 1 still a question, the board of education last night considered issuing bonds to provide operating expenses but deferred definite action until Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy rules on the issuing of further notes under the state foundation law.

The board is empowered to issue bonds against one-tenth of one per cent of the city tax duplicate without submitting the action to the voters, but Supt W. L. Miller advised against it unless there is no other source of income.

"It would be better to close the schools," he said, "than to use up a part of next year's tax income to operate the rest of this year."

Could Issue $54,000.

On the basis of the city's $54,000,000 tax duplicate, the schools could issue bonds up to $54,000 under the state law. The bonds, however, would have to be retired in two years or less.

If the attorney general authorizes E. N. Dietrich, state director of education, to issue certification against future sales tax collections, the Mansfield board will be permitted to borrow about $50,000 which would operate the schools well into January. By that time, board members said, the state legislature probably will have provided for the financing of state schools.

Favors Reducing Curriculum.

Uriging that the schools be kept open at any cost, Harold Bruce, board member, said he favored reducing the curriculum to "mere essentials" in order to prevent closing next month.

Supt. Miller pointed out that it would be useless to reduce the number of subjects taught in the schools since teachers are under contract and must be paid if the schools operate even on a part-time schedule.

"Any time lost by closing must be made up later," he said, "or the schools cannot qualify for state foundation funds. The state requires a 180-day school year of all schools participating in the foundation program."

The board has enough to pay teachers' and employes' salaries amounting to $19,500 on Dec. 1, but after that only more borrowing will provide operating funds.

WPA PREPARES DRASTIC SLASH

Thousands To Be Dropped From Work Rolls Under Plan.

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The Works Progress administration, it was learned today, is preparing to drop thousands of persons from its relief rolls to make its $1,500,000,000 appropriation last until March 1, 1939.

This plan was revealed by reliable sources who said that WPA Administrator Hopkins might issue a formal statement in a few days.

On Oct. 8 there was a record 3,136,116 persons on WPA rolls.

Faces Divorce

BETTE DAVIS

HUSBAND TO SUE ACTRESS BETTE

She Sets Hollywood Precedent by Announcing Mate Will Apply for Divorce.

HOLLYWOOD — Movie star Bette Davis announced today that her husband was going to get a divorce. It established a new social precedent in the movie colony.

Her husband is Harmon O. Nelson, a musician and former band leader. They have been estranged for almost a month.

Miss Davis sent a telegram to the newspapers, saying:

"There will not be any reconciliation. Harmon will apply for a divorce."

In the same manner she made this announcement on Sept. 27: "Ham and I have definitely decided to take a vacation from each other."

The reason advanced by friends then was "incompatibility." The divorce, it was presumed, will be for the same reason. Nelson moved into the home of a business associate last month and Miss Davis remained in their Coldwater Canyon villa in the hills over Hollywood.

Miss Davis married Nelson at Yuma, Ariz., on Aug. 20, 1932, two years after she entered the films but before she became a star.

BACK TO CANTON

Chinese Army Within 3 Miles of City in Hands of Japs.

SHANGHAI—(AP)—Chinese reported today the vanguard of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's south China army had advanced to within three miles of Canton, captured by the Japanese a month ago.

No details were given nor were the reports confirmed from other sources. The Chinese have stated frequently during the past week that their forces were making a successful counter-attack in South China, but the Japanese have insisted there was no fighting except by guerilla bands.

The Chinese also reported successes in central China where they said their armies had halted the Japanese drive on Changsha, Hunan province capital.

BACK TO CELL

O. S. R. Inmate Who Walked Away In June Caught In Chicago.

An Ohio state reformatory inmate who escaped from the institution on June 29 was back in his cell behind the walls today following his return from Chicago, Ill., by reformatory guards.

He is Frank Voss, 19, who was received at the institution from Tuscarawas county on Dec. 5, 1936 on an auto theft charge. He is under sentence from one to 20 years.

Supt. Arthur L. Glattke said that Voss, apprehended by Chicago authorities, walked away from the reformatory farm where he was working as a trusty.

Mississippi Sheriff Probes Death of Attack Suspect.

WIGGINS, Miss. —(AP)— Sheriff S. C. Hinton said the lynching yesterday of Wilder McGowan, 24, colored, suspect in the rape and robbery of a 74-year-old white woman, would be investigated.

The sheriff said a man entered the house of the woman Sunday night and attacked and robbed her.

TOWNS BURIED BY SLIDES IN WEST INDIES

50 SWEPT INTO RIVER

New Falls Bury Rescue Crews at Work Removing Dead From Crushed Homes.

(By Associated Press)

CASTRIES, St. Lucia, British West Indies—(AP)—A series of rain-loosened avalanches today spread death and destruction in the interior of this island of the Windward group.

A mountainslide eight miles long last night buried two hamlets and a number of inhabitants estimated to run into the hundreds.

Fresh Catastrophe.

Rescue workers laboring all night recovered 45 dead and 60 injured, but this morning a new avalanche buried all of the dead again in addition to many injured and several rescue workers in a fresh catastrophe.

Shortly after the first avalanche a gang of 50 laborers was swept into a river when a house in which they were sheltered slipped away along with an acre of land. Of the few saved six died during the night.

Continuous rains in the past three weeks apparently had loosened tons of earth which caused the disaster.

More than a thousand persons waited at the entrance to Port Castries all night in a pouring rain for news of relatives they feared were lost in the first landslide, which occurred on the main road connecting two sides of this island of 238 square miles.

Bodies Places In Rows.

Rescue work was hampered by the continuing rains, but 200 volunteers armed with shovels were sent to the scene this morning. Police and medical authorities established a temporary morgue at the roadside where rows of bodies awaited identification.

Six injured already have been brought to Port Castries hospital.

Communications with other parts of the island have been interrupted for the past week because of floods and minor landslides.

The floods have caused four deaths.

St. Lucia, with a population of 69,000, is a British colony devoted principally to sugar and banana raising. It is one of the Windward Islands which stretch between Martinique and Trinidad in the southern Caribbean.

Boy Finds $50 In Street, Reward Assures His Bike

If medals were presented for honesty, a bright and shining one would be given to Miles Wickert, 13, who lives with his grandmother, Mrs. Ida Wickert, 182 South Adams street.

For Miles has been tested in a pretty stiff way and was not found wanting. He frankly needs money for necessities, and for months now he has been saving pennies, nickles and dimes for a second-hand bicycle.

Friday night, after the Auto club banquet at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, Miles saw a black object in South Walnut street. When he picked it up it proved to be a small black leather case. He opened it and found a $50 bill.

The only identification was a slip of paper with the name of the Auto club on it. It would have been easy for Miles to have thrown the case away and kept the bill.

Instead, he was at the Auto club office early Saturday morning seeking the owner. The money belonged to the club. The reward will make the bicycle possible for Miles.

'I'll Be In Marysville', Anna Hahn Says; Shuns Thought of Death Chair

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS—(AP)—A clemency hearing for Anna Marie Hahn, condemned to die in the electric chair Dec. 7, will be held here Dec. 1, Daniel Earhart, executive secretary to Gov. Martin L. Davey, announced today.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Anna Marie Hahn, condemned to die in the electric chair Dec. 7, talked today of the future.

But the future, as she visualizes it, is not death. It is "when I am in Marysville."

Thus she expressed her hope that Gov. Martin L. Davey would not let her become the first woman ever electrocuted by the state of Ohio, but would commute her sentence to life imprisonment in the state reformatory for women at Marysville.

Governor Davey has not indicated his attitude. His policy in such cases has been not to supersede the courts. He has given Christmas reprieves, one of which, if for the customary length of time, would postpone Mrs. Hahn's death until Jan. 7.

At any rate, he has said he would not "pass the buck" to Governor-Elect John W. Bricker, who takes office in January.

Mrs. Hahn, who was convicted of the poison slaying of 78-year-old Jacob Wagner of Cincinnati and was accused of killing three other aged men in an alleged "murder for profit" scheme, talked cheerfully as she greeted the press for the second time since she entered Ohio penitentiary last Dec. 1.

She wore no makeup, but the blond hair of the 32-year-old German-born woman was carefully waved and her nails were perfectly manicured as she sat in a rocking chair in her special "death row" cell.

Musing over her past, she declared "I wouldn't change places with anybody in the world."

"I've had a much fuller life than anyone knows of," she explained: "I'm at peace with the world, I know in my own heart I've never done anything wrong, and that's the only thing important."

Wife Who Admits Aiding Mate's Suicide Faces Lie Test

TOOK PICTURE OF HUSBAND AT DEATH CAR

Helped Connect Hose to Auto Exhaust, Went Shopping, Woman Tells Police.

(By United Press)

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.—A lie detector test was planned today for Mrs. Marie Burckhalter, 44, who said she spent two hours last Saturday helping her husband arrange to kill himself in the garage beside their home, and then went shopping while he did.

She will be arraigned before Judge Frank H. Coyne on a first degree manslaughter charge, and District Attorney Elbert T. Gallagher said he would ask her and several other witnesses to submit to the lie detector.

Burckhalter's vital organs were sent to a hospital for analysis to determine if there were any contributory factors to his death, although the medical examiner already had reported that he found 39 per cent carbon monoxide content in his blood, more than twice enough to cause death.

Quizzed Two Days.

Mrs. Burckhalter reported her husband's death on her return from the shopping tour Saturday evening. Gallagher said his suspicions were aroused by the flippant way in which she talked of her husband's demise. He questioned her two days and then announced that she had told the following story:

Her husband, Eugene Y. Burckhalter, 47, president of the Southern Chemical Corporation, had talked of suicide for a month because he was "washed up physically and financially." She suggested that he asphyxiate himself with carbon monoxide from the automobile exhaust.

Saturday afternoon, she and her husband went to the garage, attached the hose to the exhaust pipe and ran the free end through the rear window of the car. He got out of the car and posed beside the garage while she took a photograph of him "because I just had one film left and I wanted to use it."

Then he got back into the car. He bid her goodbye. She got into the other car and went about her shopping.

MOORE RESIGNS

State Securities Chief to Take Federal Post.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Resignation of Dan T. Moore, Cleveland, as chief of the state securities division, effective Dec. 1, was announced today.

Moore said he resigned to accept a newly established post of regional administrator of the federal securities and exchange commission in charge of Ohio, Michigan, Indiana and Kentucky, with headquarters in Cleveland.

A recommendation that James C. Gruener, Cleveland, be advanced to chief of the division from his present position as first assistant was made by Moore.

Since the enactment of the amended securities act, which became effective last Jan. 31, a series of investigations which resulted in revocation of several securities registrations have been conducted by Moore.

'WHITE COLLARS' FEED LIVESTOCK

Commission Men Take Over Duties of 700 Striking Handlers at Chicago.

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO—Striking stock handlers watched white collared commission men take over their jobs today in the sprawling Chicago stock yards.

The CIO handlers' strike not only halted trading in livestock but also posed the problem of caring for more than 5,000 head of cattle, sheep and hogs in the pens.

Commission men ordinarily engaged in buying and selling undertook to feed, water and drive the stranded livestock to the packing houses.

Under an agreement between the packing House workers union and the Chicago livestock exchange all animals must be cleared from pens by 5 p. m. today. The Exchange said it would accept no additional shipments until the dispute is settled.

Middle west livestock shippers were notified yesterday to halt shipments but an estimated 25,000 head of livestock already were en route to the yards. After today shippers will send livestock at their own risk, the Exchange said.

The CIO unionists, who won collective bargaining rights for approximately 700 handlers in a labor election nine months ago, struck yesterday.

$26,410,837 FIXED AS VALUE OF ROCKEFELLER'S NET ESTATE

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—John D. Rockefeller, sr., who died in Florida on May 23, 1937, left a net estate of $26,410,837, consisting principally of securities.

A transfer tax appraisal filed today listed the gross estate at $26,905,182, of which more than $17,000,000 was in U. S. treasury notes.

Virtually the entire estate was left in trust for a granddaughter, Mrs. Margaret Strong de Cuevas; her two children; and the Rockefeller Institute for medical research.

It was estimated that the state would collect $4,616,467 in taxes.

The only other beneficiary was John D. Rockefeller, jr., who received personal and household effects valued at $33,678.

The senior Rockefeller explained in a codicil to his will that he already had made ample provision for his other heirs. In addition, he donated a total of $530,830,000 during his lifetime to philanthropic agencies throughout the world.

30 YEARS OLD

Sons of Veterans Stage Program Marking Anniversary.

The 30th anniversary of the organization of McLaughlin Camp No. 12, Sons of Union Veterans, was celebrated last night at Memorial hall with a covered dish dinner and a program of music and speeches.

Sharing the birthday event were members of Auxiliary No. 4, organized three years ago.

Among the speakers were regional commander and past department Commander Carl F. Sattler, Mansfield; Fred Pharis, Mt. Vernon, a past department commander and George F. Pfiefer, Wooster member of the department council.

The principal address was given by Harry L. Beam, Mansfield, while R. H. Stevens, past department junior vice commander, presided, and gave a history of the camp. Mrs. Katherine Sattler, president of the auxiliary, gave a short talk and presented a gift and a birthday cake to the Sons of Veterans. Mrs. Jane Beelman extended greetings from the Women's Relief Corps.

Music and entertainment were provided by the camp's hill billy band, and Misses Betty and Pattie Edmondson, Miss Dora Cosgrove and Leo Eccles, who impersonated Lincoln and delivered the Gettysburg speech.

LAY PLANS FOR FARM INSTITUTES

29 Officers Meet With Ganyard to Develop Program.

Plans for the 1939 farmers' institute season in Richland county were formulated last night by 29 institute officers at a meeting at the courthouse.

County Agent George B. Ganyard headed the discussion which included proposals for setting up communityy institute programs. Officers from eight of the nine institute organizations in the county attended the session.

The institute season will open Jan. 9 at Lucas, and eight others will be held throughout the county during January and February.

CONGRESS WILL GET RESOLUTION ON FIRST DAY

Indiana Solon Gets Senate Backing on Plan to Require Vote on War Entry.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Setting the stage for another bitter congressional battle, Rep. Louis Ludlow (D) of Indiana, today mapped a campaign for his proposed war referendum amendment to the federal constitution.

Ludlow plans to introduce his resolution on the first day of the new congress. He also plans to call members of an unofficial steering committee together to start the battle.

While Ludlow and his cohorts are waging a fight for the amendment in the house, a senatorial group, which includes Senators Nye (R) of North Dakota and LaFollette (P) of Wisconsin, plans to seek a vote for it in the senate.

Beaten 209 To 188.

Although the administration bitterly fought the resolution in the last session—and beat it by a vote of 209 to 188 in the house—Ludlow asserted that it would not interfere with the administration's armaments program.

"We do not think of this proposal in the terms of a temporary measure," said Ludlow. "It would not interfere with the national defense or the administration's plans to defend this hemisphere. It is limited to sending troops into other countries."

Ludlow returned to Washington to map his campaign fortified by the fact that he asked voters in his district to express themselves on the issue. He was re-elected by more than 9,000 votes.

The proposed constitutional amendment would require congress to submit the question of declaring war to a national referendum, except in case of attack by armed forces upon the United States, or by a non-American against any country on the western hemisphere.

The war referendum was made an issue in many congressional campaigns. While Ludlow has not made a canvass of results, he pointed to the vote of the people of Illinois on the referendum as an indication of popular support.

Republican gains in the house brought forward the possibility of a coalition in support of the resolution, in spite of administration opposition.

Youth Jailed Here Wanted in Kansas on Theft Charge.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates was notified by Kansas authorities today that a Pennsylvania youth held in county jail here awaiting grand jury action on a charge of carrying concealed weapons is wanted in Norton, Kansas for auto theft.

The youth is James O'Neil of Connelsville, Pa., who was arrested with two others here on Nov. 8 while driving an automobile believed stolen in Pennsylvania. Police found two loaded revolvers and a box of ammunition in the car.

O'Neil and one of his companions, Theodore Cook are held to the grand jury under bonds of $1,000 each while the third youth is serving out a $75 fine on a suspicious person charge.

Bates said the telegram was received here from the Kansas authorities following a routine fingerprint report which had been sent to the FBI in Washington and then distributed throughout the nation.

GETS NEW POST

Alexander Transferred To Massillon Highway Patrol Job.

L. D. Alexander, patrolman at the Mansfield State Highway patral station for the past 17 months, was transferred today to the Massillon patrol station, where he will act as a dispatcher.

Alexander came to Mansfield in June, 1937, from Warren. He was off duty for a period of about six months this year as the result of injuries suffered in a motorcycle accident. Alexander will be replaced here by R. I. Governor from Columbus

FAIR ENOUGH!

Even the Harvard-Yale Game Has Changed With Years---Except the Rain

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—In some ways it was like old times at the Yale Bowl Saturday afternoon and in other ways it wasn't.

Of course, it rained, and that was like old times, but the football game itself was so much like the games that Harvard and Yale played yesteryear that it might have been yesteryear for a fact.

The Harvards did a Rugby trick, consisting of a forward pass to a man who ran until he was tackled, and then, with a Yale embracing his knees, tossed the ball to another man, who stretched the gain until he was knocked outside. The Harvards used to do that yesteryear, catching the Yales flatfooted, and this seemed to be a revival of an old reel out of the archives.

* * *

After this gain the Harvards lose the ball on downs, and Johnny Garvey of Yale resumes his attacks at the line. Garvey gains four yards in a cutback off tackle. Second down, six. It's Garvey off tackle again for three yards. Third down, three. Garvey picked up another yard off tackle. His interference interfered with him very nicely there, and it is now fourth down, two, and Yale punts to Harvard's 45-yard line.

"Come on, Garvey," your correspondent yelled at one point, and an old Yale blue sitting in the row behind poked your correspondent between the shoulders with the stem of his pipe and said, "That isn't Johnny Garvey. Garvey passed into the drifting mists of time 10 years ago to join the heroic horde of Yale immortals in the gridiron Valhalla. He is one of our ghosts of yesteryear now, along with Frank Hinkey, Pudge Heffelfinger, Tom Shevlin and all that titanic crew."

* * *

"Well, it certainly looks like Garvey," your correspondent said. "Four yards off tackle, three yards of tackle, one yard off tackle with the interference holding like a wall, and then the punt."

"Well, it isn't Garvey," the old Yale said. "It is Yale, rah!"

"Now," said your correspondent at the intermission, "we will see the Yale drunk chase the squirrel across the field and score a touchdown with his hat."

"No," the old Yale said. "I am afraid you won't."

"No? Did he grow up?"

"I'm afraid not," he said. "They never grow up. They grow old, but not up. Sir, you have the honor of addressing the Yale varsity drunk of 1927, a year of tough competition, as you will remember. I caught the squirrel in my varsity year. I have old clippings from the Herald-Tribune to prove it. It bit me and I bit it back. But other times, other ways. Where have you been keeping yourself, anyway? The position of Yale drunk was abolished when repeal came in."

* * *

It seemed a great pity, nor was that the only change, although the fundamentals, such as the character of the play and the informal straggling of the bands remained the same. The old Harvards and Yales used to crowd the bowl, come fair weather or foul. But now both ends were vacant and one could only indulge in melancholic speculation whether they now had too little money or too much sense to sit in the autumn rain at the game of games.

Either explanation would be depressing, the first for obvious reasons, the latter because when people forget their harmless follies they turn too readily to grim and evil ones.

* * *

Anyway, it is still the same old Yale Bowl, and that is a consolation. But is it really the old Yale Bowl? One might as well have the courage to face the truth. It is not.

The genius who devised the old original Yale Bowl was a rare case who had been brought up in amazing ignorance of the facts of life and in a plant designed to hold 80,000 Harvards and Yales plumb neglected to install quarters bearing on their doors the legends, "Ladies" and "Gents," respectively.

This oversight made for stoicism in the Harvards and Yales of yesteryear. It was a unique feature of the old Yale Bowl which has vanished into the drifting mists.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Nothing is permanent in Hollywood—not even destruction.

Today painters were at work and the street of brownstone fronts soon will be better than new. Ready, indeed, for another decade of service to stars and stars-to-be who will ascend its steps and enter its doorways and, unless they're careful, break their silly necks falling into space on the other side.

This set, exposed to cinematic snows and rains and sunshine—and real California weather—day in and day out since Corinne Griffith first adorned it more than ten years ago, had received its coup de grace in "The Sisters." Bette Davis, fleeing from the San Francisco earthquake, paused briefly in a shattered doorway and the brownstone front, as though bowing to the inevitable, was left with a permanent sag.

* * *

BUT Warners, preferred to spray with paint rather than tears. The street of brownstone fronts must still serve time before the cameras.

Notre Dame Cathedral, however—as though to contradict our opening generality—is gone forever. For 14 years it has stood, weather-beaten but serene through several changes of Universal management and through a couple of generations of stars. It outlived the star Lon Chaney, for whom it was originally built, and it outlived the executive reign of Uncle Carl Laemmle, who built it for Chaney's "Hunchback of Notre Dame."

The cathedral went to make way for the New Universal's improvement program. Even this epochal clearing-out, however, has left the Phantom Stage — since Notre Dame's demise the granddaddy of all movie sets.

* * *

THE Phantom Stage—so called because there Lon Chaney horrified as the "Phantom of the Opera," in 1925—has merely had its face lifted and modernized. It is, perhaps, the most useful of all Hollywood sound stages, boasting a full-size opera house, complete with balconies and boxes—plus a swimming pool beneath its removable floor. This pool easily becomes, under an art director's hand, an outdoor plunge with shrubs and trees about and just as easily can be hidden while the opera takes over.

On this stage Deanna Durbin saw Stokowski perform in "100 Men and a Girl," and from one of its boxes she sang the song in the same picture which attracted the conductor's attention. More recently, such a notable artistic event as Joe Brown's wrestling match with Man Mountain Dean for "The Gladiator" held that floor.

Tradition, however, means little in the practical market wherein studios barter and trade for standing sets. A steamship set, and the newer the better, soon pays for itself in rentals to other studios—at a neat rate of $1,000 a day. Paramount once had the ship market itself, but its liner soon became outmoded and was razed. The Fox lot took over the mastery of the cinema seas, and held it until time—and the need for that particular space at that particular time — sent its great boat into the discard. Today Universal, Warners and Metro use their own ships, and collect rentals from ship-needy rivals.

POST-NUPTIAL PARTY HONORS MRS. MOORE

Miss Leona Young and Miss Katherine Reinhart Hostesses for Kitchen Shower, Bridge Party Monday Night.

USING an unusual color scheme of red, white and black Miss Leona Young, 131 South Adams street, assisted by Miss Katherine Reinhart, was hostess for a kitchen shower in honor of Mrs. Robert Moore, the former Miss Ruth Goldsmith, last night.

The 11 guests were seated at a table decorated with colored streamers leading to each place, which was marked with individual favors. The center piece was a miniature kitchen in red, white and black, and tall tapers at either end of the table were tied with matching ribbon.

Bridge was played during the evening with prizes being awarded to the Misses Esther Falk, Josephine Beal and Marjorie Underwood, who in turn gave their awards to the recent bride.

Balloons suspended by colored ribbons around the living room directed Mrs. Moore to her gifts which were concealed throughout the house. The hostess presented the bride with an electric kitchen clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore, who were married a few weeks ago, will be at home to friends at their new home on Marion avenue after Saturday of this week.

Complete Dance Plans At Meeting Of Social Group

Final arrangements for the formal dance which will be given tomorrow night in the ballroom of the Mansfield-Leland hotel were made during a short business meeting held by Delta Theta Tau sorority at the Possum Run Country club last night. Nels Blocher and his orchestra is playing for the affair.

The committee on arrangements included the Misses Helen and Virginia Anderson, Freeda Herring, Mary Cox and Virginia Leight and Mrs. K. L. Woodman.

Last night the girls made plans for Thanksgiving welfare work, and for other projects to continue for the remainder of the year. The evening was then spent in games.

Luncheon was served at a long table. The hostesses were Mrs. Israel Dillon and the Misses Helen Bunn, Cox and Marylu Castor. The next meeting will be Dec. 5 with the place to be announced later.

Miss Carroll's Uncle Will Officiate Thursday

When Miss Rita Carroll and Joseph Charles Ziegler are married at St. Peter's Catholic church at 9:30 a. m. Thanksgiving day the solemn high mass will be performed by Rt. Rev. Msgr. F. A. Schreiber. Monsignor Schreiber is the great uncle of Miss Carroll, and is now pastor of St. Bernard's at Akron.

Monsignor Schreiber formerly was the pastor of the St. Peter's Catholic church here. The bride-elect, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Carroll, 77 West Second street, has been feted at several pre-nuptial parties in the past few weeks.

Study Club Holds Guest Program At Paul Weir Home

There were 11 guests and 26 members of the Monday Study club present last night at the guest meeting of the organization which was held at the home of Mrs. Paul Weir, 550 Edgewood road. Miss Florence Conn was the associate hostess.

Miss Katherine Hartman was guest speaker, and she told of juvenile books, and exhibited a number of new ones. The speaker especially emphasized the careful selection of books for children, and the reading habits to be formed by very young children. She spoke of "The White Stag" by Kate Seredy.

Mrs. W. Eugene Renwick poured tea during the social hour. The next regular meeting will be Dec. 5 at the home of Miss Frances Conn, Bartley avenue.

Keeping Dry

With the weather experts predicting a wet cycle starting this year it is wise to invest in a rainy day ensemble for preparedness. Here is one of the new duranized raincoats in white, which traffic experts say is the best or all "safety first" colors. Even the pooch has his little rainy day ulster in white bound in a bright Scottish plaid.

Public Memorial Service Given By Chapter of O. E. S.

Following the regular meeting of the Ruth chapter of the Order of Eastern Star last night, at the temple a public memorial service was conducted by the officers. Arrangements were made by the memorial committee which included Mrs. Myra Culp, Mrs. Lenora Horn and Mrs. Anna Leistensnider.

Palms and ferns and cornucopia baskets of white chrysanthemums were used for decorations. The service was conducted by Mrs. Josephine Barnes, worthy matron, Claude Hunter, worthy patron; Mrs. Miriam Gross, associate matron; Frank S. Culp, associate patron protem; Mrs. Sarah Ford, secretary; Miss Pearl Wierman and Mrs. Ruth Keefe.

Appropriate music was offered by Mrs. Mary Anglin, vocalist, and Mrs. Ruth Domer gave the scripture reading. Rev. D. B. Millar closed the service.

The next regular meeting will be initiation on Dec. 5. Installation of new officers will follow on Dec. 12.

Wedding of Miss Taylor, Mr. Griffeth Disclosed

Announcement was made here today of the marriage of Miss Ruth R. Taylor, Adario, and Richard, Griffeth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Griffith, Ninth avenue. The quiet ceremony was read Nov. 19 at 3 p. m. in the presence of the bride's and bridegroom's mothers and Wilbert Goff.

The service was performed by Rev. Malin D. Wenger, pastor of the Evangelical Congregational church, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Sampsel, West First street. Mr. and Mrs. Griffeth are making their home on Sturges avenue.

BONED DRESSES

PARIS—(AP)—Bones are back. Dresses are being boned from bust to hip, the bone seams forming a decorative stitching. Separate wide girdles are boned in the same way and fastened with an old-fashioned corset steel. Alix is making the "corsets" in black antelope, some gold embroidered, for wear with dinner frocks of black crepe or jersey.

For protection against spilled liquids fasten oil paper and rubber-band caps over all bottles. Full bottles should not be carried in cold weather as fluid cosmetics will freeze, expand and crack the glass.

The first comprehensive study of the cost of living in the United States was made by the bureau of labor in 1890.

Togs Ready For Ski Fans

Ready to zip down ski slopes when snow comes is this suit of dark blue gabardine. Slide fastenings close the jacket, which is side-shirred with elastic for snugness and flexibility. A white wool cap and gloves and dark glasses to protect eyes from sun glare complete the outfit.

Members of Grace Guild Guests Of Mrs. S. R. Baird Monday

"BOMBAY" was the title of the paper giving the general background and the history of one of the largest cities of India given last night by Mrs. Howard Peterson at the meeting of the Grace guild of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Mrs. Peterson is the wife of the district superintendent.

The meeting, which was attended by 30 members and three guests, was held at the home of Mrs. S. R. Baird, 581 Crescent road. She was assisted by Mrs. John Early, Miss Ethel Hughes and Mrs. D. P. Jameson.

After the devotions which were led by Mrs. Eva Burghard, Mrs. Paul Early, president, conducted the brief business meeting, and Mrs. Roy Beck, chairman, introduced the program.

Mrs. E. N. Cooper presented "The Untouchables" from the study book. Music was offered by Miss Genevieve Howell, pianist. Plans were made at this time to hold a joint meeting Dec. 2 at 7:45 p. m. with the Lucretia Hedges society at the church. This will be a gift exchange.

New members welcomed last night were Miss Howell, Miss Virginia Fox, Miss Mildred Rice, Mrs. L. F. Wissinger, Mrs. F. M. Wadsworth, Mrs. C. R. Wilkinson and Mrs. Helen Bush.

Two Book Reviews Offered At Meeting of Central M. E. Guild

FOR the program of the Central Methodist Episcopal church guild Mrs. Roy Winters presented a review of "The Woman Who Couldn't Come Home" by Jerome Beatty, and "It Occurred To Me" by Muriel Lester, was reported by Miss Maude Cunningham.

The program was presented last night by Mrs. J. C. Stout, at the home of Mrs. M. L. Erich, Maumee avenue, who entertained 35 members and six guests. The associate hostesses for the meeting and social hour were Mrs. E. Ray Jenkins, Mrs. Frank Breckenridge, Mrs. R. M. Lamb and Mrs. M. B. Pecht.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Lloyd Connor, and a group of vocal selections were offered by Miss Sarah Catherine Wallace. She sang "Blessings," "Sonny Boy," and "Home, Mr. Pifer," by Curran.

Guests of the organization were Mrs. Ralph Martin, Mrs. William Seiler, Mrs. W. B. Owens, Mrs. Grant Ward, Miss Wallace, and Mrs. G. W. Blessing, mother of the hostess.

At the close of the program a buffet luncheon was served. The next meeting will be a special Christmas program at the church, Dec. 19.

MRS. SPENCER GIVES PAPER BEFORE GROUP

"Stained Glass Windows" Topic of Article Presented At Round Table Club Meeting Yesterday.

HIGHLIGHT of the meeting of the Round Table club yesterday at the Women's Club was the paper entitled "Stained Glass Windows" which was presented by Mrs. W. P. Spencer. After giving a resume of the process employed in the making of stained glass, Mrs. Spencer told the club members, who were the guests of Mrs. D. N. Roller, about the famous Chartres cathedral of France.

She turned next to Canterbury cathedral and Westminster Abbey of England, and then to the famous St. John's and St. Alban's of the United States. Mrs. Spencer also told of the windows designed for the chapel at West Point.

Mrs. George Anson read a short paper for Mrs. William Black, who is out of the city. Mrs. Black's paper dealt with current art. Her specific topic was the showing of fashion trends as they look through the eyes of famous designers.

The Dec. 5 meeting will be at the club at 2:30 p. m. with Mrs. May Moore. Mrs. Van C. Cook and Mrs. R. G. Averill are in charge of the program.

Young Folks Seek Advice

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Your column has been a great help to me, many times. but I have never seen my problem discussed in it. I have just recently become engaged to a most wonderful man. Although I'd like to see him every evening, I'm wondering if this would be right. How often during a week should an engaged couple have a date with each other?

IMOGENE.

"When in doubt, use common sense," is a saying. Let your womanly intuition tell you what's right to do. Young engaged couples have so many things to talk about—plans to make, budgets to figure out—that they can't be kept apart very long at a time. You have to think about whether the young man has obligations in the way of evening work, or family engagements, and it would be a great mistake for you to expect him to put these aside to be with you.

Even if he has nothing to keep him away, it's a good plan for both of you to have one or two free evenings a week. Very often people who see each other too often are likely to run out of conversation, no matter how much they're in love.

* * *

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I'm 21 years old and very deeply in love with a girl five years older. She claims she loves me, and wants to marry me, but my boy friends make sport of me and say I ought to get a girl nearer my age. Do you think a girl of 26 is too old for a boy of 21, especially when they're in love with each other? It doesn't make any difference to us, but it seems to bother the busybodies.

HARRY.

That a woman happens to be five years older than her husband doesn't make any real difference in marriage. But to my mind it would be wiser if a boy of 21 did not make this decision just yet. Wait until you're a few years older before you definitely make up your mind. Marriage brings such tremendous responsibilities that few boys, as young as you are, can handle them.

Keep up your friendship with this girl, and see what will happen as time goes on. As for your friends' and neighbors' comments —it's just none of their affair.

THEATERS

SIDNEY TOLER, who replaces Warner Oland in the Charlie Chan series, is now at work on the first one, "Charlie Chan in Honolulu." One of the most interested persons in the outcome of the change which followed Oland's death, is Mrs. Earl Derr Biggers, widow of the author of the Chan stories. For, amazing as it seems, Biggers' posthumous earnings are greater than during his life. He wrote only five novels, but there have been 19 pictures based on Charlie Chan. His widow has received $22,500 a year from the pictures, an additional $500 a week from radio use of the character, and now there is a comic strip revolving around Chan.

* * *

A Big Girl Now.

Shirley Temple has now passed the "baby stage" and is well on the road to being a young lady. Her curls are tied back frequently and her small body has taken on considerable weight. Her dancing improves with each picture and she does some difficult steps with Bill Robinson in her latest film, "Just Around the Corner," which is current at the Madison. Besides Robinson, she has Bert Lahr, Joan Davis, Claude Gillingwater and Cora Witherspoon in her cast.

* * *

Sky, Planes In Color.

Technicolor is used for the first time in an aviation picture in "Men With Wings," and gives a breath-taking realism to scenes of planes in the sky against a background of natural blue sky and white clouds. There are some thrilling scenes, showing the development of planes from the Wright brothers' first "kite" to the present day bombers. Fred MacMurray, Ray Milland and Louise Campbell are in the picture which is at the Ohio.

* * *

Musical Romance.

A musical romance, "Cocoanut Grove," and a dramatic story of a prison farm will be offered on the Ritz bill Wednesday and Thursday. The former is a Fred MacMurray film and the tale of a cross-country jaunt in search of a job for a band. Harriet Hilliard, the Yacht Club boys and a host of others appear in the film. Shirley Ross, John Howard and Lloyd Nolan are seen in "Prison Farm."

King of Newsboys.

A flock of familiar names are found on the roster of "King of the Newsboys," a Republic film which will be shown Wednesday only at the Park. Helen Mack and Lew Ayers are starred, while in the cast are such well remembered names as Alice White, Victor Varconi, Mary Korman and Alison Skipworth. New York's East Side and its swanky penthouse district provide the background. "Behind the Mike" with William Gargan and Judith Barrett is the second film.

* * *

MacMurray Again.

A "screwball" comedy, the type that Carole Lombard has been doing for several years, is "True Confession," which the Majestic offers through Wednesday. Fred MacMurray—this could be called Fred MacMurray week in Mansfield—is a bewildered husband with a born liar for a wife and Miss Lombard is the lady who lies faster than a streamline train travels. John Barrymore has one of his best comedy roles. Edith Fellows in "Little Adventuress" rounds out the program.

Marriage Meddlers

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Don't appear to be looking around," I cautioned just before we reached the door, "but if you can, find out whether that man is loitering around."

"He was out there, all right," Hank said.

"Standing in a doorway," Mary contributed, and I nodded, for I, too, had seen that doorway and its restless loiterer.

"He's flagging a cab now," Bill said, his eyes on the rear window. "D'ye suppose we'll be able to dodge him?"

"We're not going to try very hard," I said, smiling. "What I'm most anxious to see is the face of the man to whose trailing he is almost sure to turn us over."

"But, Auntie Madge!" Hank said, puzzled. "How is he going to get in touch with another man while he's trailing us?"

"They travel in couples, don't they?" Mary commented, and Bill caught the inference.

"The other man's already somewhere on this street, is that it?" he queried.

"That's it," I returned, smiling, "or I'm very much mistaken."

"You're not mistaken," Hank said excitedly. "Look, Bill! Did you see that first taxi stop so another one could crowd in right behind him? A big, tall fellow got in it just before. I'll bet he's the second man Auntie Madge was talking about."

Ordered to Watch.

"Watch them both!" I adjured. "I've changed my mind about the Lansfield," I told the driver. "We're going uptown, instead. Can't you beat that light and turn left up the avenue?"

"I'll try," he said, and just skimmed through as the light changed.

"They're stymied," Bill said delightedly when he had rounded the corner, "and they're not even far enough out to see which way we're going."

"Turn left at the next corner, and then go to the M——," I named a well-known restaurant. "Do you know it?"

"Sure thing," he replied with the free and easy comaraderie of the average New York taxi driver. "Which entrance?"

I named the one easiest to reach from our present position, and, with traffic favoring him, he was able to turn the next corner to the left without any delay, and with no sign of the following detectives.

"D'ye think we've done it, Auntie Madge?" Bill whispered. "I don't see a sign of either taxi."

"It's too soon to tell yet," I answered. "But there's something more important for us to consider. Hank, do you think you would recognize that big, tall man if you saw him again?"

"The one I thought was the second detective?" Hank whispered excitedly. "You bet I would. I'd know him 'in a graveyard in the dark of the moon'."

Diary of a Fashion Model

Crepe and satin frock.

* * *

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

AT LAST I'm a full-fledged business girl and I am having a magnificent time. All the pleasure, all the goings-out and goings-on in the world of amusement can't make up for the thrill of work that is congenial and productive. Madame is certainly a wise woman, for it seems that she recognized qualities in me that I had no idea existed.

I seem to be making quite a success of our new cosmetics line. I have been helping in displays, sales promotion, publicity and in merchandising. We have a special section of the main floor for the line. There are two charming little rooms at the side where our clients can have their skin tones analyzed and their skin examined by a dermatologist. Then, and only then, can the customer buy her make-up and her creams and lotions.

One Store in City.

As we propose to offer this service in connection with our line, it means that the line will never become an indiscriminate one. It will be restricted to one store in each city and the main office will supply the machines and a staff dermatologist to every store handling our line. Most of the stores carrying the line also carry Madame's models, so our name is well known to patrons.

Don Arriving.

Don and his lovely English wife arrive tomorrow and so they will be at the premiere. We'll be a big party, what with Dodo and her escort, Don and his wife and Bill. I don't know when I've looked forward to an event more than this one. Now I feel like something worthwhile, an honest-to-goodness business woman, not just a clothes-horse and handy girl in the shop.

My people are thrilled about it and Consuelo is far more enthused and excited than about her own show.

Every girl likes little frocks that can carry her through a business day and still look nice on the way home. This model is of crepe and satin in deep plum, the sleeves and bodice being of the satin. The yoke, skirt and belt are of the dull fabric. A zipper goes from the high neck to below the belt line.

Cranberries Adaptable Fruit

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

This being the season for the luscious berry, we offer today more new, delightful cranberry recipes. And since the season is so short, it behooves us to do right by it and by ourselves, for the cranberry is just bursting with healthful elements.

We start off with a grand cocktail. It requires one pound (four cups) cranberries, four cups water and two-thirds cup sugar. Cook cranberries and water until all the skins pop open. Strain through cheesecloth. Heat, add sugar and boil for two minutes. Chill before serving.

Lemon, orange or pineapple juice, ginger ale and other beverages combine well with the juice.

Delightful Conserve.

Use cranberries, to the tune of one pound (four cups), to make a delightful conserve. Other ingredients include one cup each water, seeded raisins, one sliced orange, two and one-half cups sugar and one cup chopped nut meats. Cook cranberries and water until all the skins pop open. Put through a sieve, add raisins and orange and sugar. Cook for 15 minutes. Add nut meats and remove from heat. Pack in sterilized glasses and seal with paraffin.

For a spiffy sherbet, just the thing to serve with a heavy holiday meal, use one pound cranberries, two and one-half cups water, two cups sugar, one tablespoon gelatin, one-half cup cold water and one-third cup lemon juice. Cook fruit and water until all skins pop open. Strain and add sugar and gelatin, softened in cold water. Heat until dissolved. Cool and add lemon juice. Pour into tray of mechanical refrigerator and freeze (three or four hours).

Piquant Relish.

To make a piquant relish that is nice with meats, mix chopped raw cranberries with grated, fresh horseradish to the proportion of two-thirds cranberries to one-third horseradish. It's grand with cold roast beef!

Cranberry pastry rolls will please baking enthusiasts. Ingredients include two cups cranberries, one-half cup raisins, one cup nut meats, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup shortening, one and one-half cups flour, one-half teaspoon salt, ice water and two tablespoons melted butter. Chop cranberries, raisins and nuts. Add sugar. Cut shortening into flour and salt, add just enough ice water to form a stiff dough—three to four tablespoons. Roll out on a floured board, brush with melted butter, cut in four-inch squares. Spread with cranberry mixture and roll like a jelly roll. Bake in 450 degrees F. oven for about 20 minutes.

Try tenderizing inexpensive meat cuts with cranberries. For each three pounds of meat (pot roast or boiled meats of less tender cuts) add two cups raw cranberries to the gravy or juice while meat is cooking. It adds extra richness, tenderness and flavor to both meat and gravy.

Inspect the casters on your furniture. They may be tearing holes in your rugs because they are broken or worn.

To remove mud stains allow the article stained to become thoroughly dry and then brush it off with a clean stiff brush.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

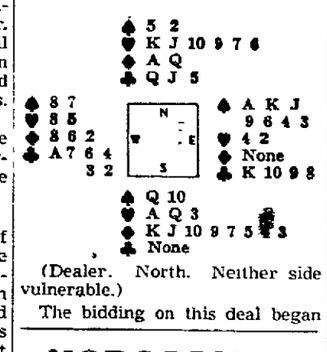
"The Authority on Authorities"

TRUSTFUL ADVERSARIES

Bidding the opponents' suit, after your side has found a fit in some other suit, usually proclaims possession of the ace or a void. Few good players will then lead that suit, fearing that the declarer can surely take the first trick in it. As a consequence, psychic bidders get rare results by taking advantage of trustful adversaries.



(Dealer. North. Neither side vulnerable.)

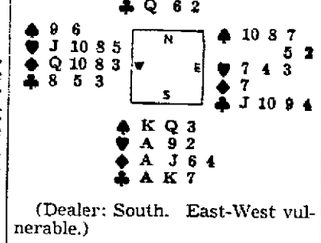
The bidding on this deal began with North calling 1-Heart, which East overcalled with 1-Spade. South injected a bid of 3-diamonds and West passed. North's next bid was four diamonds, over which East went to 4-Spades.

South at this point realized that the combined holdings of himself and his partner should produce a slam, provided the opponents could be induced to make some other lead than a spade. With this in mind, instead of calling 5-Diamonds, he bid 5-Spades. North went to 6-Diamonds and South, figuring he would be set at six with spades led, gambled on 7-Diamonds, which would incur a set of two instead of the one at the six bid.

West new believed South's spade bid and led the club A, figuring that was the setting trick, but he sadly watched South trump and realized he had been fooled by South, who ran 13 tricks.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

How should North play to make his contract of 6-No Trump after the lead of the club J?

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, November 23.

JUDGING by the lunar aspects, this should be a day memorable for the decisive breaking away from old obstructions and long static conditions in order to make a definite advance upon solid achievement and enduring progress, with an assured stabilization of the fortunes. This advance should come through initiative, energy, determination and sound objectives, which may be solid enough to withstand certain undercurrents of deception or trickery. Writings, publicity and contracts are under favorable auspices.

Those whose birthday it is should be prepared to enjoy a year of great progress in the way of stabilizing their interests, whether investments, property, business or contracts, with promise of increased income and expansion of opportunity for security and gain. Writings, letters, advertising and publicity assist in this direction, but be alert to underhand and subtle machinations. Old as well as new matters should flourish.

A child born on this day may have very sound and practical ideas, as well as subtle creative energies and equipment, to place it in a position of security, advancement and responsibility in life. Its mind should be alert, shrewd and crafty.

Tub butter is cheaper than print, so use it at least for cooking.

Small Child Should Be Encouraged

By MME. QUI VIVE

It's a lucky child whose mama directs her along the path to loveliness. Good appearance oils the wheels of life, no doubt about it. And now that the sisterhood realizes that beauty is dependent upon health and vitality, the race is easier to run, laurels come more quickly. A little child can't start too soon to learn to be dainty, attractive, to get along happily with her fellow creatures.

There's no need of worrying about vanity. It is natural for a little girl to want to be clean and pretty. Even little boys don't like to be dirty any more. If papa has his shower every morning, son has to have his, too.

* * *

By the time a little girl is seven years old she should have her own beauty kit. She needs cold cream to keep her skin smooth; it is surprising how easily the delicate cutaneous coat of childhood roughens and feels sensitive. The toothbrush and dentifrice should be at hand, the child taught to use them morning and night. If the nail file and orange stick are her own she will use them, keep groomed the pretty pink shells that sheath her finger tips.

She must have her own wash cloth, hand and bath towels. If she has a bath brush she will cleanse her little body more thoroughly than if she has only the cloth to scour with. Soap must be of the blandest. Talcum powder will be fun for her to play with, sprinkle between her little toes.

* * *

She should take pride in her hair, learn to brush it daily, though mama will still have to attend to its arrangement.

The conscientious, helpful mother will look after daughter's diet, see that it is a balanced one. Too much sweet food, too many starchy dishes will have a bad effect upon the complexion.

CRANBERRY-APPLE PIE made the SPRY way
2½ cups cranberries, chopped
1½ cups apples, chopped
1½ cups sugar
3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
3 tablespoons water
1 recipe Spry Pie Crust
Combine cranberries, apples, sugar, tapioca and water. Let stand while rolling pastry.
Roll ½ of dough and line a 9-inch pie plate. Roll remaining half of dough and cut in narrow strips about ⅜-inch wide. Fill pie shell with fruit mixture. Place pastry strips on top, criss-crossing them to make an attractive lacy top. Moisten edge of pie, place strip of dough around rim, and press together with fork. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 30 to 40 minutes.
SPRY PIE CRUST
2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅔ cup Spry
3 tablespoons water (about)
Sift flour and salt together. Add ½ of Spry and cut in until mixture is as fine as meal. Add remaining Spry and continue cutting until particles are size of navy bean. (Notice how creamy and easy to blend Spry is!) Sprinkle water, 1 tablespoon at a time, over mixture. With a fork, work lightly together until a dough is formed.

Columbus Quiet After Losses

Blames Material, Not Schmidt

"Sad Sam" Lost Few More

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

WHO has muffled the bark of the High street wolves in Columbus?

Here Ohio State has completed a disastrous season, and not a cry has been heard to the effect that what Ohio needs is a new coach.

Not that we think Ohio needs a new coach—it's just that we think it's strange that the downtown quarterbacks in Columbus don't think so—and say so.

Not only are the downtown quarterbacks silent—so are the Columbus sports writers. Among football writers, they have had the same reputation as the Cleveland baseball writers, who are always (according to legend, at least) firing the Indian manager.

After the Michigan game Saturday, in which Ohio was outsmarted, outcharged, outrun, outpassed—in fact, outeverything—did the capital football writers call for a new coach? They did not. They explained that all season Ohio has been lacking in good tackling good blocking, good generalship as well as in speed. They also explained—or one of them did—that if football players couldn't tackle or block, couldn't pick the right plays, couldn't hang onto the ball, etc., it was something that couldn't be helped.

Another Columbus scribe didn't go into what was wrong—he just wrote a piece to the effect that 1939 would be another year and maybe Ohio would do better.

Yes, the Columbus scribes have changed.

Five years ago they were yelling for the scalp of the late "Sad Sam" Willaman, and whether or not their yells were directly responsible, Willaman was replaced by Francis Schmidt.

In the five years that came to a close Saturday, Schmidt-coached Ohio State teams have won 29 out of 40 games and have tied one, losing 10.

Willaman-coached Ohio teams in the five years that ended with the 1933 season played 41 games, winning 26, losing 11 and tying 4.

Not a great deal of difference. Yet they ousted Willaman.

* * * * *

So, Ohio State Lacked Material!

GETTING back to what the football writers have to say, a Cleveland scribe kicked in yesterday with the statement that Ohio just didn't have the material, and said that if it wanted to remain a power in big-time football, it would have to get better material.

He was the same writer who, at the start of the season, waxed enthusiastic over the wealth of fine prospects Coach Schmidt had at his command as he set about forming his 1938 team.

And as for the Columbus writer, whose explanation that nothing could be done for football players who couldn't run, block, tackle, or pick the right plays—it has always been our impression that coaches were supposed to teach them how to block, run, tackle and pick the right plays. And we didn't think it usually took two or three years to do it.

The alibi has also been offered that many Ohio players were inexperienced sophomores—and yet two sophomores, Harmon and Kromer, led Michigan to victory over Ohio, and to a season marred only by a 7-6 loss to Minnesota as well.

Schmidt won his fame as a razzle-dazzle coach, and his best Ohio teams played razzle-dazzle ball, as witness the clubs of 1935 and 1936

The 1938 edition had little razzle dazzle about it. As a matter of fact, it was razzle-dazzle that went haywire that set up Michigan's first touchdown Saturday—not that they wouldn't have gotten touchdowns anyhow.

It would seem that razzle-dazzle ought to be taught after the fundamentals of blocking, tackling and running. Ohio had not enough of either—and would have been better off with more of the fundamentals.

* * * * *

Maybe They Were Wrong In Firing Sam.

AS we said before, we're not after Coach Schmidt's scalp any more than the Columbus scribes and fans.

But if their attitude toward Schmidt is right, they were awfully, awfully wrong on Willaman who did just about as good a job and got fired for it.

Steve Andrako's Selection as Ohio Captain May Result In Transfer of Magg to Tackle

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Steve Andrakos, a curly-headed young man with a bashful smile and a fighting heart achieved today the highest ambition of his football career—the captaincy of the 1939 Ohio State football team.

His selection as next year's leader by the 31 Bucks awarded letters for their 1938 gridiron performances was a fine tribute to the staying qualities of the New Braddock, Pa., boy who failed to start an Ohio State game this fall.

Steve played understudy at center in 1937, his first year as a Buck, to the great Ralph Wolf, co-captain of that year's eleven. This fall Steve returned to school as the No. 1 choice for center only to find himself shunted aside by the fine early season showing of Sophomore Charley Maag.

But Steve kept plugging, in practice and in his frequent game opportunities and reached the best playing form of his career against Michigan last Saturday.

His selection Monday night probably foreshadowed the transfer of the giant Maag to a tackle position next fall. Co-Captain Carl Kaplanoff, Alex Schoenbaum and Joe Aleskus, ranking tackles on the 1937 squad, are all seniors. Only 10 of the 31 letter winners, however, will be graduated this year.

The remaining 21 will form the experienced nucleus of next year's squad to be bulwarked by what line coach Ernie Godfrey pronounced "the best freshman squad in the last 10 years."

The yearling players, introduced at the appreciation dinner Monday night, ran deep in quantity and quality at the tackle and end positions, where the 1939 squad will need the most replacements.

George Trautman, president of the American Association baseball league and members of the Ohio State Athletic board, presided at the dinner and paid tribute to Kaplanoff and Mike Kabealo, the retiring captains. Coach Francis Schmidt described the past season when the Bucks dropped three games as "fairly good."

George N. Cole, a substitute on the first Ohio State football team in 1891, was awarded an honorary "O" by the athletic board. The 1938 monogram winners: Joe Aleskus, Columbus; Andrako; Ross Bartscchy, Orrville; Keith Bliss, Columbus; Harvey Bolser, Lockland; Bill Bullock, Kent; Frank Clair, Hamilton; Forrest Fordham, Toledo; Charles Gales, Niles; Jerome Grundies, Cleveland; Ed Hofmayer, Columbus; Kabealo, Youngstown; Kaplanoff, Bucyrus; Jim Langhurst, Willard; Wendell Lohr, Massillon; Maag, Sandusky; Vic Marino, Youngstown; Bill Nosker, Columbus;; Esco Sarkkinen, Fairport; Schoenbaum, Huntington, W. Va.; Don Scott, Canton; Frank Smith, Columbus; Jim Sexton, Middletown; Jerry Spears, Columbus; Jim Strausbaugh, Chillicothe; Tom Welbaum, Akron; Claude White, Portsmouth; Stu Whitehead, Columbus; Richard Weullner, Columbus; Frank Zadworney, Cleveland, and Louis Young, Massillon.

There's No Deception Here

STEVE KAZLO . . . and he's not punting.

Toledoan Only Rival Remaining

Madison Star's 146 Total Puts Him One Point In Front of Carl Grate of Greenfield.

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer.

GENE HARMON, Mansfield Madison's 140-pound backfield star, just about had the state's scholastic football scoring honors clinched today for the 1938 campaign, his total of 146 giving him a one-point edge over Carl Grate of Greenfield McClain.

The Madison midget, who had lingered in third place practically all year behind Grate and Alliance's 16-year-old Hillis Hume, cracked through for three touchdowns Friday night as Mt. Gilead was smothered 19 to 0, the youngster getting all but one of the points.

That lifted him above both Grate and Hume, who finished their chores earlier, the latter winding up third with 132 points. Grate, three weeks ago ended his high school career with a 59-point splurge in one contest to reach the 145 mark.

26 Points Behind.

Dick Huston, Toledo Libbey's husky star, in fourth place with 120 points, was about the only one with a chance to approach the leaders, and he must do it in the Turkey day scrap with Toledo Devilbiss. Marion Motley, Canton McKinley's ace point-gatherer, in fifth place with 113, was stopped cold Saturday as Massillon's Tigers beat the Bulldogs 12 to 0 to annex their fourth straight mythical state championship.

Most of the state's leading elevens rested up over the week-end to prepare for crucial Thanksgiving day games, but enough contests were staged to knock three clubs out of the clean-record class.

McKinley's loss to Massillon before 19,000 fans was the first for the Bulldogs in nine starts, while Lorain swept Elyria out of the unbeaten-contingent. 13 to 12. Cincinnati Roger Bacon's record of seven straight wins was tarnished as St. Xavier held it to a scoreless deadlock.

The week-end contests left Massillon at the peak with 10 straight wins, and a scoring record of 302 points to 60 for the foe. Tied with nine wins in a row were Fostoria, Cleveland Cathedral Latin, Adena, Portsmouth and Van Vert, the latter beating Kenton 32 to 0 Saturday while the other four were idle.

Also unbeaten and untied were Greenfield McClain and Versailles with seven consecutive conquests, and Antwerp of Paulding county, with five straight and an uncrossed goal line. Cleveland West Tech, with seven victories and a tie, had the only other untarnished pay dirt section.

While Harmon was dashing into the individual scoring lead, and giving his team the scoring laurels with 320 points, one of his mates was making history from the point-after-touchdown line. Joe Miller booted the one extra point against Mt. Gilead to raise his total to 24

Along with six touchdowns that gave him 60 points for the year. He missed but eight of 32 extra-point boots, giving him an average of three out of four.

Heads Linemen.

Another teammate, End Bill Wilkins, was the high scorer among the non-backfield men, most of his 15 touchdowns coming on passes from Harmon and Miller. He added four extra points the same way for a 94 total.

Among the Turkey day games involving leading teams are Adena vs. Dillonvale, Portsmouth vs. Huntington, W Va, Sandusky vs. Fremont Ross, Troy vs. Piqua, Dayton Oakwood vs. Dayton Fairmont, Toledo Scott vs. Waite, Toledo Libbey vs. Devilbiss, and Youngstown Chaney vs. Portsmouth, Va.

CAPTAINCY NO NOVELTY

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—(U.P.)—Serving as captain of Yale's football team next year will not be a novelty for Bill Stack, 22-year-old varsity center from East Lansing, Mich. He captained the East Lansing high school team before coming to Yale; and he led the Eli frosh eleven two years ago.

CONSIDERS BOWL BID

CLEVELAND — (U.P.) — Western Reserve's unbeaten and untied football team is being considered for an invitation to play in the annual Sun Bowl football game New Year's day at El Paso, Tex., it was reported today.

Poling Picks Reserve, Tech On Turkey Day

But Figures U.S.C.-U.C.L.A. Game May End in Tie.

DICK POLING, Mansfield football expert, whose weekly collegiate rankings appear in publications all over the country, today predicted victories for Alabama over Vanderbilt, Carnegie Tech over North Carolina State, Western Reserve over Case, Cornell over Pennsylvania, Villanova over Manhattan, Xavier over Toledo and Southern California over U. Steve Zoll will be the official scorer The season will open Dec. 1.

Rush Winter Sports Season

Y Classes Build Equipment for Snow Parties.

Mansfield is getting ready for the winter sports season, despite the lack of signs for snow and ice.

Classes headed by Norman Kellogg, No. 1 Mansfield winter sports enthusiast, are constructing equipment out of scrap lumber and old barrels. Samples of the work being produced in the woodworking department at the Y. M. C. A. are now on display in the show window of the Moorhead Ford agency.

Don Cram, physical director at the Y. announced today that these classes are open to any boys wishing to build skiis, sleds or tobogganing.

Those interested in building their own equipment for the coming snow season are requested to contact Ralph Chapman, Y secretary, or Cram at the Y.

SPEAKS IN CRESTLINE

CRESTLINE—James W. Aiken, Akron university coach, will be the principal speaker at the annual Crestline high football banquet at the high school tonight.

Two Marks Fall as Liederkranz Ties Legion for Club Loop Lead

New Team Series, Game Records Set at Meder Alleys; Joe Thull Leads Individuals With 681.

MOST of the fireworks in the Club Handicap league was furnished in the Liederkranz-American Legion match at the Meder alleys last night.

The defending champion Liederkranz club won the match, two games to one, and the two victories enabled the quintet to tie the Legionnaires for first place at the conclusion of the first round of the campaign.

Two new season records were established in the match. The Liederkranz club came through with a fancy 2981 total, which was built on opening games of 1026 and 1019, for one of the new marks.

The other new record was a 1043 game by the Legionnaires,

OBERLIN — (U.P.) — Robert Kretchmar, graduate of Cleveland West high school, today had been selected captain of the 1939 Oberlin college football team.

BUY NO ANTI-FREEZE UNTIL YOU READ THESE FACTS ABOUT Du Pont "Zerone"*

SCIENTIFIC TESTS prove "Zerone" would keep water from freezing solid even at 215° below zero. You'll never encounter such temperatures, so you can be sure "Zerone" used in accordance with directions will protect your car in the coldest weather you do experience.

The materials from which "Zerone" is made are so effective you need comparatively little "Zerone" to achieve protection. That's economy. Properly used, replacements of "Zerone" are little indeed—and that's economy, too.

Tests prove that the mixture of "Zerone" and water passes off engine heat better than water alone. That improves engine performance.

"Zerone" in a clean cooling system prevents formation of rust and corrosion—avoids power losses, helps save fuel and oil. Ask your dealer to protect your radiator with "Zerone" today. It's only $1.00 a gallon. Du Pont, "Zerone" Division, Wilmington, Delaware.

Vogel Shoots 644 In C League.

FRITZ VOGEL was the "man of the hour" in the Commercial C league last night as he walloped the uprights for a fancy 644 total, one of the best rolled in the circuit this season.

Bowling with Oscar Walter's Barbers, who took three games from the Lamb Lincos, Vogel turned out a 225-196-223 string of scores to lead his team to a high 2504 count.

The three victories helped the Barbers to continue in the tough fight for the lead with Gimbel's Confectioners, who were extended to take as many from the Hecht and Casey Coals.

Dunn of the Jackson Potato Chips hit for 599 as he led his club to three wins over the Goodrich Tires, Bill Reed came through with a 578 as his New Method Laundries dropped two to Art Ratlan, the Levering Dairys added a pair of wins over Shaw's Jewelers and the Druschel Drugs swept their series with The News-Journals.

Wittenberg Honors Mansfield Gridmen

At Wittenberg college in Springfield, last night, Robert Blackburn of Springfield was voted the title of most valuable player during the 1938 season. Blackburn, a center, and 22 teammates were awarded sweaters or blankets at their annual grid dinner. Wittenberg grid captains are named before each game. Guard Leroy Frederick of Mansfield received a three-year service blanket.

First-year service slipover sweaters were awarded George Moffat, Joe Hudak and Lawrence Law of Lorain, Pete Marshall of Warren, Ed Chatlain of Mansfield, Vincent Cooper of Weirton, W. Va., Lester Julian of Salem, John Johnson of Middletown and John Kostyo of Elyria.

Two Bowling Leagues To Be Idle This Week.

Two bowling leagues have announced postponement of their matches this week because of the Thanksgiving holiday. The Commercial B league, scheduled Thursday, called off matches this week as well as the City Class A men's doubles league, scheduled Wednesday.

Announcement was also made today that the Mansfield Tire league will bowl at the Meder alleys tonight. The schedule does not call for any matches this week, but league officials said this was due to an error in the compilation of the card.

Cifer's Good, Too; Ask Knoxville Boys

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — (AP) — Bobby Cifers, Kingsport high school's touchdown machine, has demonstrated his ability to score under pressure. The 183-pound junior halfback sparked Kingsport to a 29 to 6 victory last night over Knoxville city high, scoring nine points himself, tossing two touchdown passes and gaining 142 yards on running plays.

Cifers' points boosted his season's point total to 222 points, 11 more than tallied by Bill De Correvont of Chicago last season.

AWAIT COTTON'S REPLY TO MATCH WITH SNEAD

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Golfers today awaited the reply of England's Henry Cotton to a "name your own terms" proposal for a match with Sam Snead billed "for the world's professional match-play championship."

Snead, hard-hitting pro from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., already had accepted the offer of Elmer Ward, Boston, to meet Cotton in a 72-hole match. Should the Englishman agree, the match will be played in New York during the world fair.

ST. PETERSBURG TO PLAY ALL-OHIO HIGH ELEVEN

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(U.P.)—St. Peterburg's high school football team will play an all-central high school eleven here in the second annual Kumquat Bowl, Monday, Dec. 26, according to an announcement today by E. C. Robinson, chamber of commerce official.

Selection of the Ohio team will be under the auspices of the Columbus Citizen, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, and proceeds of the game will be used to finance construction of a St. Petersburg high school stadium.

JIMMY WILSON ADDED TO CINCINNATI STAFF

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Jimmy Wilson, 38, ex-manager of the Phillies, who still regards himself as something of a catcher, will help Cincinnati's Reds in their drive for a National league pennant next year.

Jimmy signed up as a coach last week, and general manager Warren C. Giles announced that he would be used as a utility catcher if necessary. He replaced Eddie Roush, who decided to retire to his Indiana farm.

PACKERS SET RECORD

NEW YORK—(AP)—Green Bay Packers established a new league scoring record with the three points they scored against the New York Giants Sunday. That gave them a total of 223 points in 11 games against the old mark of 220 they made last year.

TONY FIGHTS TONIGHT

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Former Lightweight Champion Tony Canzoneri continues his comeback tonight in an eight round fight against Howard Scott, local welterweight, at the Bronx coliseum.

GEORGIE PACE WINS

TORONTO—Georgie Pace, 118, Cleveland, outpointed Henry Hook, 119¼, Indianapolis, (10).

COLUMBUS, O.—Fritzie Zivic, 148, Pittsburgh, knocked out Al Hamilton, 148, Louisville (5).

THROUGH BEING HOLDOUT, DI MAGGIO TELLS FRIENDS

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Joe DiMaggio, one of Col. Jake Ruppert's Wayward Yankees at the start of the 1938 season, confided today—"I'm through being the holdout kid."

Back in San Francisco at a picturesque fishermen's wharf, Joe talked with fishermen who were his companions before he deserted the nets for baseball and who are among his greatest boosters. "Yeh," said Joe, "I expect to be among the first in camp next spring." Some believe Joe already knows what Ruppert will pay him next season.

Ask These Questions:
Is my loan private?
Do I need references or co-signers?
Am I charged for interest in advance?
What happens when I am unavoidably late in making a payment?
Do I have to submit to embarrassing credit investigations?
May I choose a repayment plan that is best suited to my income?
Im my loan transaction simple and understandable?
Do I have ample time to repay?
Investigate our convenient cash loan plan. Be sure that you are entirely satisfied with your loan all the way 'round before you borrow.

POPEYE—That's What You Think, Popeye!

PAM—Still Puzzled! By A. W. Brewerton

SAID MISS GORDON HAD BEEN HURT AND WAS CALLING FOR YOU. HEY? WELL! THAT IS — STRANGE!
I WAS ABOUT TO RUSH OFF FOR THAT APARTMENT WHEN CLARE JUST HAPPENED TO CALL ME ON THE PHONE,
WHAT WAS THE ADDRESS THE WOMAN GAVE YOU?
HERE IT IS — I WROTE IT DOWN!
11-22
HUH! — THAT'S A GOOD NEIGHBORHOOD! — MAY BE JUST A FICTITIOUS NAME AND ADDRESS — HUM — VERY ODD — VERY ODD INDEED!
AND AT THE "VAN AUSTINS" APARTMENT, THINGS HAVE BECOME STRAIGHTENED OUT, AT LAST!
JUDGE, THE ONLY TIME OUR PHONE WAS BUSY WAS WHEN WE TRIED TO CALL YOU MUST HAVE BEEN JUST AT THE TIMES I WAS CALLING YOU!
THANK HEAVEN THE GIRL NEVER CAME!
SAY! 'SPOSE SHE GOT TIPPED OFF? Y'KNOW WE BETTER SCRAM OUT O'HERE RIGHT NOW!

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—Friends Indeed. By Harold Gray

MORNIN', MRS. ALDEN — FINE DAY, AIN'T IT?
MORNIN', MRS. ALDEN —
GOOD MORNING — YES, IT'S A LOVELY DAY —
HOWDY-DO, MRS. ALDEN —
MORNIN', MAM —
THEY ARE SO GENUINE AND FRIENDLY — REAL MEN — THE SORT MY CALEB LIKED —
SURE — THEY'RE ROUGH AND TOUGH BUT THEY DON'T GIVE A HOOT IF YOU'VE GOT A DIME OR A MILLION — 'CEPT THEY'RE GLAD TO SEE A FRIEND DO WELL —
11-22-38
THAT OLD GAL IS REAL CLASS, 'CORDIN' TO MY BOOK —
YOU SAID IT, JIM —
SHE'S IN TH' BUCKS, BUT IT WON'T CHANGE HER A BIT —
SHE'S A BORN LADY — HER KIND ARE ALWAYS RIGHT, RICH OR POOR —
IT SURE DOES ME GOOD TO SEE HER ON TOP O' TH' HEAP —
TH' LEECHES ARE SWARMIN' HER PLACE BY TH' DOZENS —
IT'S GOT THE OLD CATS IN THIS TOWN ABOUT CRAZY, TRYIN' TO PAL UP TO HER NOW — SURE — THAT'S ONE O' TH' HANDICAPS O' HAVIN' A FEW BUCKS, I GUESS — HAROLD GRAY

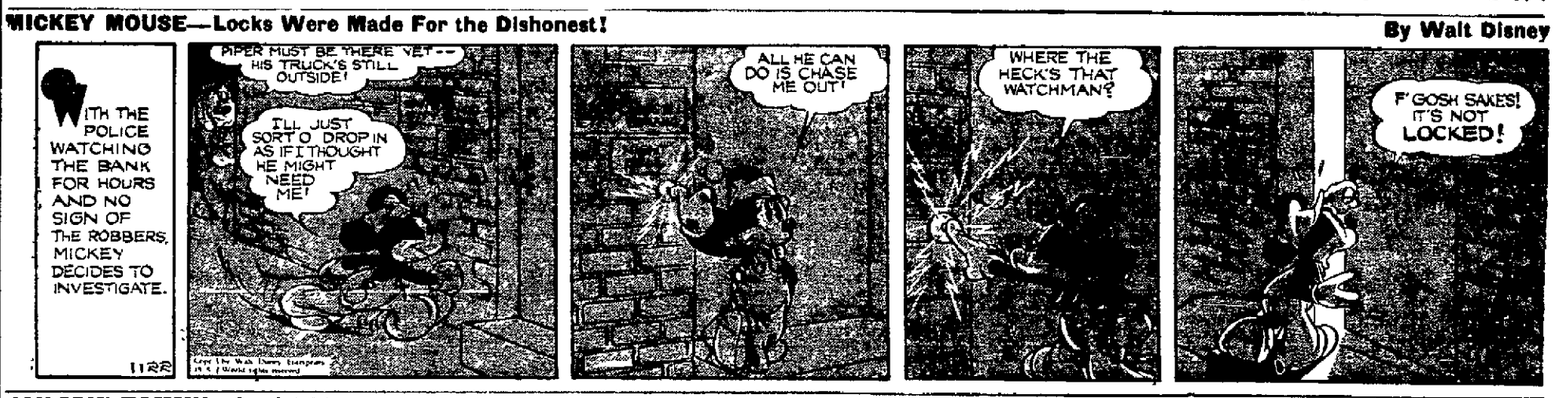
THE NEBBS—It's An Idea. By Sol Hess

IT LOOKS LIKE I'VE PASSED STATION 'SUSPICION' — THE COPS GRILLED ME — SAID I'VE ONLY BEEN HERE A SHORT TIME — I ASKED 'EM IF THAT MADE ME CROOKED. I SHOWED 'EM MY PHONY RECOMMENDATIONS AND THEY ALMOST APOLOGIZED TO ME
THAT'S FINE — THOSE COPS ARE JUST THE ORDINARY GARDEN VARIETY — GIVE A SNAIL TEN MINUTES START ON 'EM AND THEY'D NEVER CATCH HIM
WELL, HOW ABOUT A LITTLE CHANGE ON ACCOUNT? I WANT TO SCRAM THIS PLACE
WELL, HERE'S $500 BUT YOU MUST STAY HERE UNTIL WE'VE GONE — WE'LL GIVE YOU A SPLIT JUST AS SOON AS WE DISPOSE OF THE ROCK
I GOTTA HAND IT TO YOU — YOU DON'T WASTE TIME ON SMALL THINGS — I'LL BET IF YOU WERE HONEST YOU'D MAKE MONEY AT IT
I MIGHT TRY IT SOME TIME — THEY'VE GOT A CROOK IN THIS TOWN IN THE MOVIE BUSINESS WHO GOT TO BE A MILLIONAIRE GOING STRAIGHT
11-22

BRICK BRADFORD—In the Fortress of Fear. By William Ritt and Clarence Gray

LOOK, HENDERSON, THOSE FLIERS WE CAPTURED SAY THEY WANT TO JOIN US!
I BELIEVE THEY'RE SINCERE, BRICK
SAMSA, YOU SEE, HAS BEEN TALKING TO THEM AND MUST HAVE SOLD THEM ON THE IDEA
O.K! COME ALONG!
WE ACCEPT YOUR OFFER OF ASSISTANCE AGAINST ALAMOOT!
THANK YOU, SIR — FOR YOUR TRUST IN US — YOU WILL FIND US LOYAL TO THE DEATH!

MICKEY MOUSE—Locks Were Made For the Dishonest! By Walt Disney



WITH THE POLICE WATCHING THE BANK FOR HOURS AND NO SIGN OF THE ROBBERS, MICKEY DECIDES TO INVESTIGATE.
PIPER MUST BE THERE YET — HIS TRUCK'S STILL OUTSIDE!
I'LL JUST SORT O' DROP IN AS IF I THOUGHT HE MIGHT NEED ME!
ALL HE CAN DO IS CHASE ME OUT!
WHERE THE HECK'S THAT WATCHMAN?
F' GOSH SAKES! IT'S NOT LOCKED!

TAILSPIN TOMMY—Luck Rides Dual with Skeets! By Hal Forrest

LEVEL OFF!.. LEVEL OFF, SKEETS! WE'RE ON TH' WAVES!
DID.DID WE CRASH?
NO! IT WAS ME! I BUSTED TH' WINDOW WITH MY SHOE!
BUSTED TH' WINDOW!.. WHY?
'CAUSE TH' AIR WAS TOO STUFFY AN' IT SMELLED LIKE.. GAS!
Hal Forrest

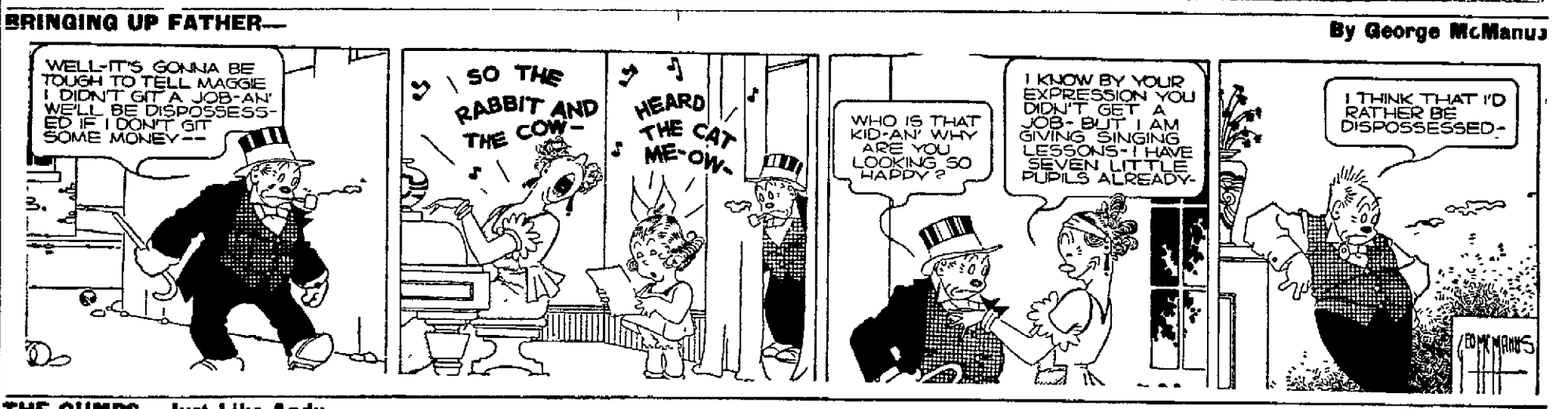
BRINGING UP FATHER— By George McManus

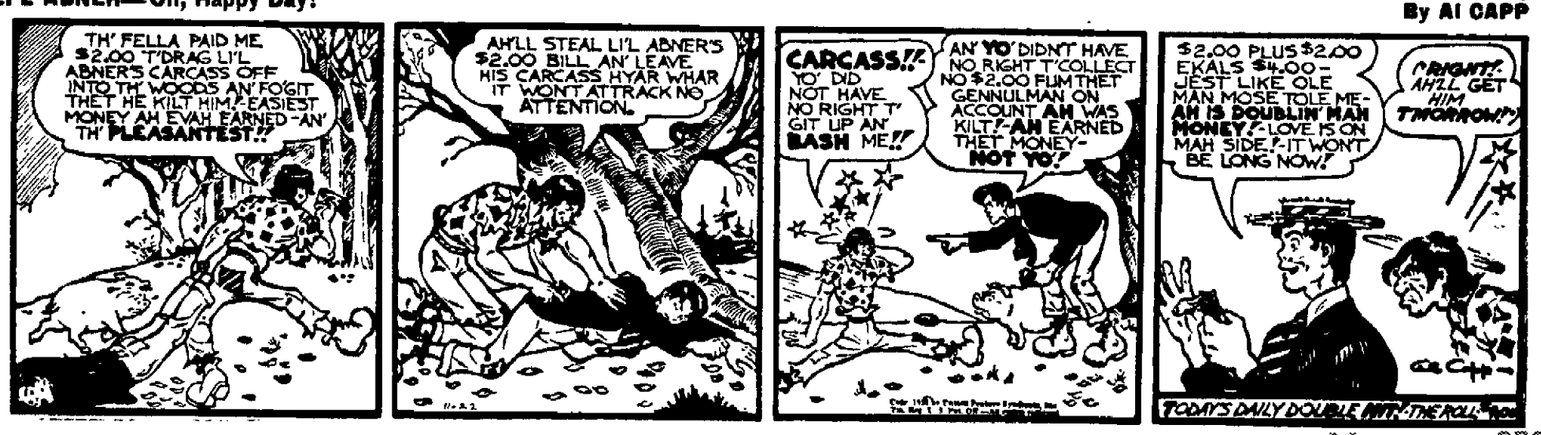


WELL-IT'S GONNA BE TOUGH TO TELL MAGGIE I DIDN'T GIT A JOB-AN' WE'LL BE DISPOSSESSED IF I DON'T GIT SOME MONEY —
SO THE RABBIT AND THE COW —
HEARD THE CAT ME-OW —
WHO IS THAT KID-AN' WHY ARE YOU LOOKING SO HAPPY?
I KNOW BY YOUR EXPRESSION YOU DIDN'T GET A JOB — BUT I AM GIVING SINGING LESSONS — I HAVE SEVEN LITTLE PUPILS ALREADY —
I THINK THAT I'D RATHER BE DISPOSSESSED —
GEO MCMANUS

THE GUMPS—Just Like Andy. By Gus Edson

WELL, I MUST SAY YOU HAVE THE SWANKIEST OFFICE OUTSIDE OF A MOVIE SET, THAT I'VE EVER SEEN —
NOT BAD — NOT BAD — BUT OF COURSE THIS IS ONLY A HUMBLE BEGINNING
GUS EDSON
11-22
IT WON'T BE LONG BEFORE WE HAVE OUR OWN BUILDING — "THE LITTLE GIANT COMBINATION SHOE-HORN AND BOTTLE OPENER BUILDING" — IT WILL BE SO TALL WE'LL HAVE TO PUT HINGES ON IT SO THE MOON CAN PASS! OUR FACTORY UNITS WILL SPRING UP LIKE MUSHROOMS ALL OVER THE MAP!!
BY THE WAY, MY VOCAL BILLIONAIRE, YOU NEVER TOLD ME THE ADDRESS OF YOUR FACTORY — WHERE IS IT?
THAT'S FUNNY — LUCKY I FORGOT TO ASK HIM THE EXACT ADDRESS — ABSENT-MINDED OF ME, WASN'T IT?
THAT MIND OF YOURS HAS BEEN ON A PERMANENT LEAVE OF ABSENCE FOR FORTY-FIVE YEARS!

LI'L ABNER—Oh, Happy Day! By Al CAPP



TH' FELLA PAID ME $2.00 T'DRAG LI'L ABNER'S CARCASS OFF INTO TH' WOODS AN' FO'GIT THET HE KILT HIM. EASIEST MONEY AH EVAH EARNED — AN' TH' PLEASANTEST!!
AH'LL STEAL LI'L ABNER'S $2.00 BILL AN' LEAVE HIS CARCASS HYAR WHAR IT WON'T ATTRACK NO ATTENTION.
CARCASS!! YO' DID NOT HAVE NO RIGHT T' GIT UP AN' BASH ME!!
AN' YO' DIDN'T HAVE NO RIGHT T' COLLECT NO $2.00 FUM THET GENNULMAN ON ACCOUNT AH WAS KILT! — AH EARNED THET MONEY — NOT YO'!

JUDGE PUFFLE By Gene Ahern

AHM — SO YOU LADS PLAYED FOOTBALL TOGETHER AT COLLEGE, EH? — WELL, AH — UM KAFF — IT MAY INTEREST YOU TO KNOW THAT I WAS A FAMOUS RUGBY PLAYER FOR THE TOTTENHAM HOTSPUR ROVERS! — I SAY, — ARE YOU LISTENING?
REMEMBER THAT TRICK PLAY WE USED AGAINST ASHLAND MOOSE? — THE BALL WAS SNAPPED TO ME, — YOU HAD YOUR HANDS UNDER MY SHOES AND THEN YOU'D FLIP ME OVER THEIR HEADS FOR FIVE YARDS! — THE FLEA-JUMP PLAY WE CALLED IT!
YOU SHOULD HAVE SEEN THIS UNCLE OF YOURS PLAY FOOTBALL, PUFFLE! — WEIGHED 105 POUNDS AND ALWAYS AT THE BOTTOM OF THE PILE! — WE HAD TO PRY HIM UP OUT OF THE TURF WITH A NUT-PICK!

MARKET DRIFTS LOWER DESPITE QUIET BUYING

Aviations Retain Fractional Gains as Selling Follows Opening Advance.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Despite quiet buying in aircrafts, stock market leaders generally ldifted lower.

Some profit taking in the aviations followed an opening advance for this group and the majority was able to retain only small fractional improvement. Best were Boeing, Glenn Martin, Aviation Corp., Bendix and North American Aviation.

In arrears as much as a point or so were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, Anaconda, Kennecott, Southern Pacific and General Electric.

Tax selling and weakness of the British pound in terms of the dollar were believed to have had a mildly restraining effect on trading forces.

Bonds and commodities were mixed. There were further reductions in both scrap and export copper quotations.

Holders of motor shares noted estimates of R. L. Polk & Co., that registrations in principal cities for the first ten days of November in dicated new passenger car sales were 43.17 per cent ahead of the corresponding period last month.

Helpful were forecasts of an improved statistical position for the petroleum industry in December.

MRS. PILOT DIES

Wife of Store Official Had Been Ill Short Time.

Mrs. Bertyne Vader Pilot, 33, of 338½ West Third street, died in the General hospital at 8:45 a. m. today after a brief illness.

The wife of G. Winston Pilot, assistant manager of the S. S. Kresge company, Mrs. Pilot was born in Michigan City, Ind., Jan. 15, 1905, and had been a resident of Mansfield two years, coming to this city from Dearborn, Mich.

The survivors include her mother, Mrs. Matilda Vader; a brother, Gary Vader, and three sisters, Mrs. Harold Holtz and Mrs. Arthur Casten of Michigan City, Ind., and Mrs. Arthur Edwards of St. Joseph, Mich. She was a member of the Park Avenue Baptist church and Delta Theta Tau sorority.

Funeral services will be held at the Finefrock funeral home at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday with Rev. Hayes M. Braker officiating and Friday at Michigan, City, Ind., where burial will be made.

START QUIZ IN TROLLEY CRASH

Street Car Operator Dead; Five Still In Hospital.

MARTINS FERRY —(INS)— Investigation of the head-on collision of two Co-operative Transit company trolleys between Gaylord and Yorkville, that killed one person and injured 20 others was begun today.

Urban Greene, 38, street car operator, died last night of his injuries. Albert Swindered, 47, one of the five injured still remaining in city hospital, was reported "not so good" today.

The two trolleys caught fire soon after the crash causing a near panic among passengers.

WOMAN FIRES AT POLICEMAN

Escapes In Speeding Auto After Toledo Chase.

TOLEDO — (AP) — Patrolman George McTaggart of the Flat Rock, Mich., police department was the target of five shots fired by a woman occupant of an automobile he pursued from Flat Rock to Toledo, a distance of 35 miles, frequently at a speed of 90 miles an hour, early today.

The car, which McTaggart said, bore Wyoming license plates, was occupied by the woman, a young man and a child. McTaggart lost trace of the machine when it turned west as it neared the Toledo city limits.

LATIN AMERICA OPENS DEFENSE FORCE REVISION

Air, Military and Naval Bases Chief Contributions of U. S. in Time of War.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Latin America's chief contribution to any continental defense scheme will be provision of air, military and naval bases for the United States and guaranteed access to strategic raw materials, informed government sources believed today.

Republics to the south rapidly are improving their defense forces—Brazil alone is said to have 300 serviceable fighting planes However, it is generally recognized that the western hemisphere will rely chiefly on the rapidly expanding U. S. defense forces for protection against aggressors.

Any definite development of President Roosevelt's continental solidarity policy must await the Pan-American conference opening at Lima on Dec. 9.

Opposition Dissolving.

One high official said the aim of this country would be to "put teeth in the Monroe doctrine." He expressed belief that the rise in prestige and power of so-called Fascist nations has dissolved much Latin-American opposition to the doctrine.

One important phase of any unwritten defense alliance will be in regard to air forces.

The United States is estimated to have between 4,000 and 4,500 military and naval planes. It is expected that military air strength alone may be increased to about 9,000. There also will be a sizable increase in naval aircraft.

Air strength of the Latin-American nations is not known, but it is not believed to be more than 1,000 serviceable planes. Increases are planned by many of the republics.

Germany is estimated to have somewhere in the vicinity of 7,000 planes; Italy about 5,000 and Japan approximately 3,000.

Experts here contend that at present an air attack on the western hemisphere from airdromes on another continent are not practical, with one exception: the easternmost section of Brazil.

4 Trucks Answer Alarm, Find Fire In Machine Out

Two fire companies including three pumpers, an aerial truck and 10 firemen were called to Fourth and Main street at 10:30 a. m. today to find that the fire was out when they arrived.

They reported that a short in the wiring of an automobile owned by Mike Miller, whose address they did not have, caused someone to pull the alarm box at the intersection.

Firemen explained that the reason all the equipment responded to the alarm was that the location was in the business district which calls for two companies including the aerial truck to make the run.

At 9 a. m today companies Nos. 1 and 2 were called to the home of Claude Marshall, 832 Springmill street, when sparks from the chimney set the roof afire. Damage was reported at $100.

Three companies, Nos. 1, 2 and 4, answered an alarm at the Westinghouse at 6 p m yesterday when an acetylene torch caught fire. They reported no damage.

TOLD OF DEATH

GALION—Relatives here have received word of the tragic death of Mrs. Laura (Bethune) Ocker, wife of Earl Ocker, who was killed Saturday in an automobile accident in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Besides the husband and a son, four brothers and a sister survive.

DIES COMMITTEE TO CALL DAVEY

Ohio Executive Expected to Testify at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Gov. Martin L. Davey is expected to appear as a witness before members of the house committee on un-American activities, who Chairman Dies (D., Tex.) said would probably open a Cleveland inquiry about Dec. 1.

Dies, at Washington, did not disclose either the activities his committeemen plan to study or the names of witnesses. An authoritative source reported, however, that the Ohio executive probably would appear.

It also was understood locally that a committee representative has scrutinized teaching in Cleveland public schools.

officer that the victim dashed across the road directly into the path of Berkey's car.

An ambulance was summoned but the man was dead on arrival at the Galion hospital.

Crawford County Coroner O. R. Kackley said that the man, who sustained a fractured leg and arm, had died from shock.

Patrolman Cale said that the state highway patrol was checking with Belmont county authorities in an effort to obtain positive identification of the victim. He said one of the men had said that the victim was from the river city, and believed his name was Buck Keyser.

HURT IN CRASH

Galion Woman, Sister Injured in Mishap Near Lodi.

GALION—Mrs. Walter Rensch, residing four miles west of Galion on the Bucyrus road, and her sister, Mrs. W. A. Spiggle of Akron, a former Galion resident, are in the Lodi, O., hospital suffering injuries received in an automobile accident near West Salem, Saturday noon.

Mrs Rensch is suffering from a neck injury, and for several hours following the accident was unconscious. Mrs. Spiggle's back was injured, and she also suffered severe bruises.

Mrs. Spiggle and her husband who was driving the car had spent the past week with relatives here, and were returning to their home in Akron, accompanied by Mrs. Rensch, who planned to make them a visit.

The Spiggle car was struck by another car driven by a Mansfield woman, when Spiggle slowed down to avoid a pheasant from hitting the windshield of his car.

Spiggle received minor injuries.

'TOBACCO ROAD' PERFORMS IN SOUTH UNDER COURT PERMIT

(By Associated Press)

ATLANTA — Widely discussed "Tobacco Road," protected by a temporary injunction obtained after a local board of censors ruled that it was "improper" and should not be presented, opened before a capacity audience here last night, but with the controversy apparently far from ended.

Adapted from the novel by Erskine Caldwell, a native Georgian, and depicting the hopeless outlook confronted an uneducated, impoverished rural family in a section known as tobacco road, near Augusta, Ga., the play already is in its fifth year in New York, and has been shown in numerous other cities.

Its presentation here, however, brought forth considerable debate in which Mrs. Franklin D Roosevelt took part.

The Atlantic Constitution today quotes Mrs. Roosevelt as saying she "would not presume to dictate here what people should or should not see.

"I never agree to censoring anything of an artistic nature. I feel that 'Tobacco Road' should not be taken as picturing one section or locality, and should be seen by people desirous of understanding certain conditions who would be willing to put forth every effort to change them.

Superior Court Judge E. D. Thomas, in granting the temporary injunction yesterday to operators of the theater in which the play is presented, set the permanent injunction hearing for Friday, but said he would grant an earlier hearing on three hours' notice.

The temporary injunction restrains the City of Atlanta, the mayor and council, the city clerk and the chief of police from interfering with the play until after a hearing on the permanent injunction.

Mansfield Fireman Had Pains All Over Till He Took Vendol

Could hardly get around at times; pains ranging from neck, hands and shoulders, through back and into calves of legs. Describes marvelous relief Vendol gave.

MR. JOHN A. McCARTNEY

Mansfield people are coming forward by the dozens telling how they have gotten amazing relief from only a few bottles of Vendol, the medicine introduced here just a few weeks ago by the Vendol Man through Central Drug Store, where he is now meeting people daily and explaining all about this famous remedy.

Mr. John A. McCartney, fireman at the Mansfield Lumber Co., and residing at 173 W. 6th St., described his experience a few days ago as follows: "I had pains all over me at the time I began taking Vendol and some times I could hardly get around.

"The pains started in the back of my neck, made my shoulder stiff, my hands hurt so bad I could hardly grip anything, my left side ached and my knees and calves of my legs hurt so bad I could hardly get up after sitting a while. These pains were so bad I couldn't get restful sleep and at my age this tells on a man pretty bad.

"Vendol and the Little Vendol laxative tablets proved to be just the treatment I needed. Very soon, they had relieved my constipation and acted as a diuretic to my kidneys, helping to cleanse the poisons that may have been causing all the trouble, then I enjoyed the most relief I've known in years. Now, I'm truly feeling years younger and get restful sleep all night long with no interruptions.

"This is the finest medicine I ever tried and want to advise every man and woman in this city who suffers the same way, to get Vendol without delay and see what it will do for them, too."

Give this grand medicine made of nature's Roots, Herbs and mild Alkalines a chance to help you, too. Come to Central Drug Store, Cor. Main & 4th Sts., and let the Vendol Man explain all about it. Druggists everywhere sell and recommend Vendol.

REVEALS COST OF GOVERNMENT UP 41 PER CENT

U. S. Survey Compares Spending in 15 States in '37 With Expenses for 1932.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The census bureau has reported a sharp rise in the operating costs of state governments despite the federal government's work relief program.

While financial statistics for every state have not yet been compiled, the census bureau has analyzed 15 states which, officials said, gives a good indication of the trend of state government fiscal policies.

Officials contend that if there had been no federal works relief program, expenditures would have been considerably greater because of the larger share of the relief burden they would have had to bear.

41 Per Cent Jump.

The analysis showed that in 1937, the cost of operating the 15 state governments was 41.4 per cent greater than in 1932. The aggregate net debt of these states increased 27.7 per cent in the five years covered by the study.

Increases both in spending and income were reported by all states analyzed. In 1937, the 15 states reported expenditures for operations and maintenance, interest in the debt and capital outlays totaling $714,568,000, compared with a $506,098,000 in 1932. Their income in 1937 amounted to $820,827,000; in 1932, $480,295,000

The per capital cost of operation and maintenance of general departments of 15 states and the per capita net debt in 1937 compared with 1932 included:

States	Per Capita Cost 1937	Per Capita Cost 1932	Per Capita Debt 1937	Per Capita Debt 1932

PAYS IN PENNIES

Rhode Island Man Collects Tax Money In Pail.

PEACEDALE, R. I.—(INS)—A penny earned is a penny for taxation according to William Caswell. Caswell keeps a pail in the corner of his kitchen. Every spare penny he has he drops into the pail. Comes taxation time, Caswell takes the pennies, rolls them up in series of hundreds and embarks to the proper authorities for disbursal. This year Caswell delivered 9,261 coppers to the South Kingston tax collector and 1,418 pennies to the fire tax collector.

Play Lead Roles In Comedy

DONALD SPEAKMAN

MARGUERITE MILLER

Leading roles in the three-act comedy, "The Youngest," to be presented by the January graduating class of Senior high school Wednesday evening in the high school auditorium will be portrayed by Marguerite Miller and Donald Speakman. Speakman, will be seen as Richard Winslow, the youngest member of the Winslow family, and Miss Miller will play the part of a friend of the family.

20 SENIORS TO TAKE PART IN 3-ACT CLASS PLAY TOMORROW

The January graduating class of Senior high school begins its commencement activities by presenting its class play, "The Youngest," by Phillip Barry, at 8.15 p. m. Wednesday in the high school auditorium.

The play, a three-act comedy, will be staged by a cast of 20 students under the direction of Earl L. Heasley, dramatic instructor at the school

Marguerite Miller and Donald Speakman are in the leading roles. Miss Miller, vice president of the Red Masque club, school dramatic group, has taken an active part in school dramatic work, but is making her first appearance in a major production. Speakman played one of the leads in the play "Sky Fodder," presented at the school last year, and before coming to Mansfield from Canton had major roles in several productions at Canton McKinley high school.

Others in major roles are Willis Lewis and Mary Bair. Lewis had the lead last year in the Red Masque play, "Icebound," and was seen also in "Sky Fodder," and Miss Bair, president of the Red Masque club, played in a one-act play "Caleb Stone's Death Watch" presented last year at an assembly

The remainder of the cast includes Betty Bottomley, William Gorby, Kay Glessner, Harlan Hedrick, Margery Buel, Eileen Kimmel, Marilyn Eckstein, Wendell Shaull, Ruben Sorg, Genevieve Richard, John Stretch, James Hart, Walter Lake, Jack Fry, Dale Bechtel and William Smith

Members of the production staff are Marjorie Miller, business manager; William Laser and Selwyn Copeland advertising managers; Virginia Buchter, prompter; Mabel Hahne, William Condon, Kathryn Kaser, Bernard Yoakam, Frank Edwards, property committee, Richard Nicholas, stage manager, Charles Callahan, electrician, Rex Collins, Richard Collins, John White, Ralph Shively, Robert Tawse, Pete Mellio, John Mecklem and Virginia Wolff, stage hands.

Ushers will be Marjorie Shasky, Mary Harden, Ruth Winkler, Eleanor Boock, Erna Schenk, Virginia Wagner, Esther Dorn and Theresa Hallabrin The high school orchestra, directed by S K Jorgenson, will furnish music between acts

SCHOOLS MARK THANKSGIVING

Senior High and Madison to Hold Assembly Programs; Pupils Get Holiday.

Special assembly programs in observance of Thanksgiving day will be held tomorrow at Mansfield and Madison high schools

The two schools, along with others in the city and county, will be dismissed tomorrow afternoon and will remain closed for the remainder of the week for their annual Thanksgiving vacation.

The program at Senior high will begin at 10 a. m. and will be sponsored by the Senior Hi-Y club. The general theme will be "Why I, An American, Am Thankful."

Five members of the club who will give short talks are:

Donald Finefrock, "International Relations;" William Fishback, "Church;" William Laser, "Home," David Shelley, "School," and Ralph Arlin, "Constitution."

Music during the program will be furnished by the school orchestra directed by S. K. Jorgenson, and the A Cappella choir directed by A. L. Derr. David McGinty will be general chairman. Arrangements for the observance are in charge of a committee made up of Harold Duda, chairman, Charles McClure, and William Layton

Rev. Hayes M. Braker, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will be guest speaker at the Madison assembly to be held in the auditorium at 9 a. m.

Music will be furnished by the various school musical groups under the direction of James Weber, music supervisor.

SAVE HEALTH AND MONEY

By JOHN C. DAVIS, Druggist.

It pays best to patronize a medical doctor before you are forced to call upon him for service.

Owners of any kind of machinery know that it pays to check constantly on the condition of their machines. There may be no outward evidence that a part is wearing down to a point of danger, yet you consult a mechanician from time to time, and he checks for wear or other defects, thereby saving your machinery and a greater outlay of money later on.

Perhaps at times readers of these health talks may feel that the repeated admonitions to check with a physician, even though you consider yourself well, are overdone — but are they?

It sounds like sweet music to hear the doctor say, "you're in good shape." It sounds like something else when he says, "You'll have to remain in bed for three months"

When medicine is needed get it where you are assured of accurate compounding by a competent pharmacist

SOUND METHODS IN BUILDING URGED BY FHA

Threefold Motive Prompts Intense Interest in Home Construction.

The Federal Housing Administration is vitally interested in sound methods which will result in better designed homes throughout the country, according to Howard P. Vermilya, Director of FHA's Technical Division.

A threefold motive prompts this interest, Mr. Vermilya says: Protection from unsound methods of construction and design for the home buyer: consequent increase in a property's marketability, thus protecting the interests of the lending institution; reduction of the chance that the structure will become quickly undesireable and possibly prove a loss to FHA's mutual mortgage insurance fund

A house to be marketable, Mr. Vermilya points out, must be durable in construction, planned for convenience in living, and adequately arranged and equipped for safety, light, and sanitation. It must, also, be pleasing and well-proportioned in design and possessed of an attractiveness that promises permanence in appeal—a factor the Federal Housing Administration is stressing increasingly in its mortgage insuring operations.

"One gratifying measure of progress in the matter of architectural design noted in recent months is the increasing use by prospective home buyers of the services of architects," Mr. Vermilya said. "This is reflected in the plans which accompany applications for mortgage insurance reaching the various state and district offices of the FHA When our operations first got under way, it was not unusual to receive crude and ill-conceived plans, drawn in some instances, on wrapping paper

"The Federal Housing Administration sponsors no particular style of architecture but insists that houses offered as security for mortgages to be insured by FHA must be well-designed. This we consider of far greater importance than the particular architectural style employed.

"There are many years of constructive education necessary to uproot false notions concerning sound architectural design held by some sections of the public. The 'gingerbread' era in its passing offers a clear example of definitely unnecessary ornamentation and changing tastes."

Check Needed on Light and Power System In Homes

Careful check should be made of the light and power equipment in a new home or in modernizing an existing house.

In the case of old dwellings, such a check is doubly recommended The original installations may have become worn or damaged The services of a competent electrician should be employed to avoid mistakes which might prove costly and hazardous

A wiring system, if permitted to remain neglected, may prove to be a dangerous fire hazard Nonmetallic sheathed cable armored cable, rigid metal pipe, or knob and tube may be used in rewiring

A variety of types of switches may be employed Standard toggle switches may be used for ordinary locations Mercury switches may be used but are generally employed only where silent action is required All switches in exposed locations should be waterproofed

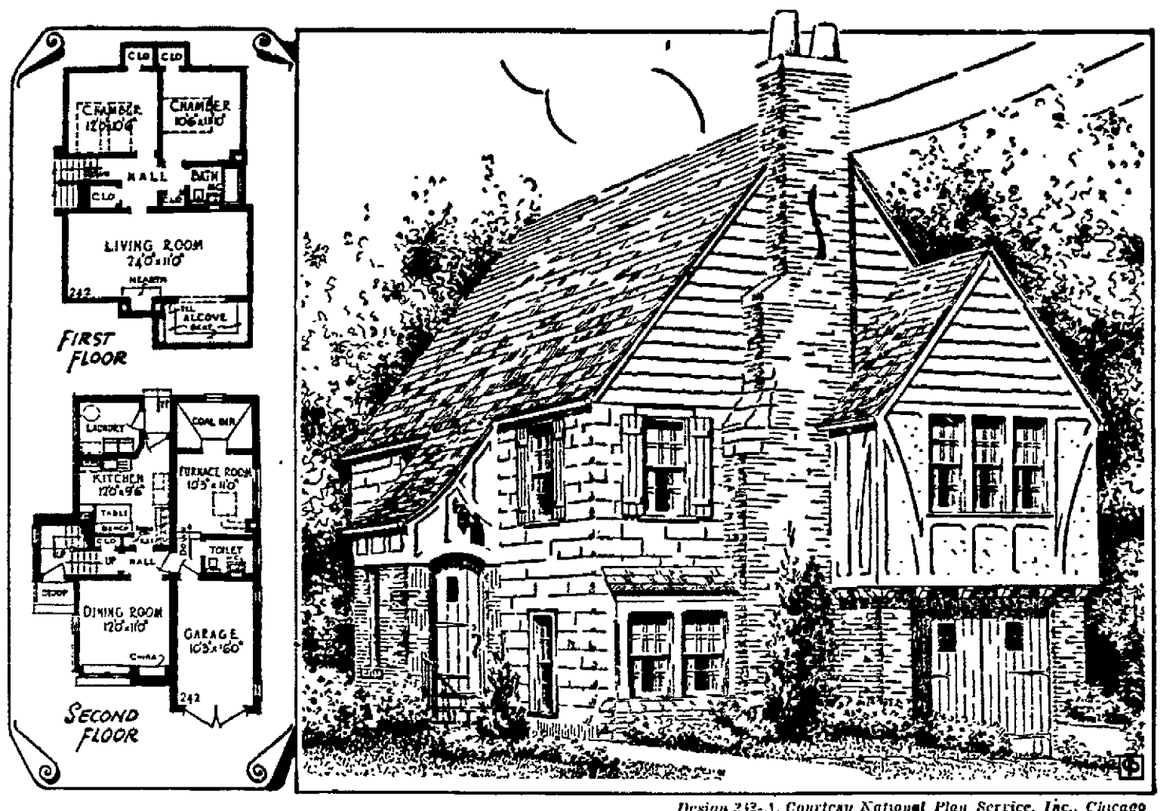
Materials And Supplies HOMES Plans And Estimates

English Basement, Living Room, Bedroom on 2nd Floor



Design 242-A, Courtesy National Plan Service, Inc., Chicago

Five-room frame house with English basement and garage, in which garage, dining room and kitchen are on one level; living room and bedrooms on floor above.

(By Central Press)

This five-room frame house is unique in that it has an English basement. The garage is on the same floor level as the dining room and kitchen, and is connected with them all by a hall. The living room and bedrooms are on the floor above.

This type house is often built on a hillside, so the plan is worth considering if you have a lot of that character.

Besides the garage, dining room, kitchen, laundry, furnace room and coal bin on this level is a breakfast nook with table and bench. There also is a toilet on this floor

The living room occupies the entire front room of the second floor, with hall between it and the bedrooms. The bathroom is off this hall. The living room has a fireplace and an alcove over the garage with windows overlooking the front of the house. This alcove contains a built-in seat and place for telephone.

The size of the main building is 24 feet 6 inches by 40 feet 6 inches, size over all. 31 feet by 41 feet 6 inches. It contains 23,780 cubic feet.

FLOOR LEVEL LIGHT HELPFUL

A recessed louver light located near the floor in bedrooms and nurseries is a new feature offered for the convenience of home owners

The fixture gives a diffused glow that will not interrupt a person who is asleep and yet gives enough well-placed illumination to permit walking about a room without colliding with furniture It can be so placed as to throw a soft glow on the head of the stairway.

The Property Improvement Credit plan of the Federal Housing administration provides an opportunity of obtaining financial assistance for improving lighting systems The funds are advanced by private lending institutions.

FUND FOR POLICE RADIO HITS $50

Chief Pleased With Response, to Order 2-Way Equipment.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates' campaign to raise $700 for the purchase of two-way radio equipment for the police department was under way today with contributions totaling $50 already received.

Bates said that as a result of the immediate response at the start of the campaign he would place the order for the equipment which will include four radio transmitters for the city's cruisers and one station receiver.

The chief planned the campaign after his request for an appropriation from city council was sidetracked because of the lack of funds.

FARM REPAIR LOANS POSSIBLE

Farmers may now use an FHA insured mortgage to build or repair houses, barns, sheds, poultry houses, silos, and other farm structures. Banks, building and loan associations, trust companies and other private financial institutions approved by the Federal Housing administration make such loaons.

Farm land may be either bought or refinanced on this plan when 15 per cent or more of the amount of the loan is used for materials and labor on the construction or repair of farm buildings.

NEW BATHTUBS 16 INCHES HIGH

20 Different Models, Styles Available for Selection by Home Builders.

In making plans for a bathroom, either in modernization or in new construction, one of the first points to consider is the style and location of the bathtub, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Once bathtubs were as alike as peas in a pod. Today the home builder or home modernizor may choose between more than 20 different models and styles.

The variety of bathtubs now available is due to the efforts of the plumbing industry to build greater utility, convenience, and safety into its fixtures.

Unlike some home equipment, plumbing fixtures are not subject to seasonal style changes. New models are an outcome of constant study in relation to the problems of sanitation, safety, practicability, and the needs and desires of the public.

Design trends are toward a lower fixture. Some of the newer models measure only 16 inches from the floor to the rim, thus making it easy to step in and out

Another definite trend noticeable in all of the newer models is a wider, flatter bottom, which lessens the danger of slipping and adds to the pleasure of the shower.

Due to the enthusiasm with which the public accepted the innovation of a seat as an integral part of the bathtub when it was introduced recently, all of the newer models provide this convenience which is also a safety feature.

RED CROSS TO WIND UP ROLL CALL CAMPAIGN

Workers Urged to Make Final Reports Tomorrow; 2,500 Turned in to Date.

Red Cross Roll Call workers throughout the city and county were being urged today to make their reports, regardless of whether they have completed their territories by tomorrow afternoon as the drive officially ends Thursday.

W. J. Locke, general chairman, pointed out that this year the period for the Roll Call is almost a week shorter than in other years because Thanksgiving is earlier than usual this year. The drive opened on Armistice day.

Goal Set at 8,000.

While workers all over the county have been busy on the Roll Call, only a few of them have cleaned up their districts and consequently only a little more than 2,500 of the 8,000 membership goal have been turned in. Locke said that all workers should turn in their reports by Wednesday afternoon whether or not they have completed their canvass.

Additional 100 per cent concerns announced today were:

SETS HEARING

County to Act on Boulevard Petition Jan. 30.

County commissioners today had set Jan. 30 at 10 a. m. for a hearing on petitions for the incorporation of South Boulevards as a village. The hearing will be in the commissioners' office at the courthouse.

At the same time, commissioners authorized R. K. Clark, treasurer of the South Boulevards Property Holders' association, to advertise the hearing for six consecutive weeks.

Four petitions containing 150 names were filed with the commissioners yesterday by Clark, a leader in the movement for incorporation. Objections to the formation of a village will be considered at the hearing and commissioners will authorize the incorporation if they deem it advisable.

EXCITES PARIS

Air Raid Alarm Goes Off During Recent Tension.

PARIS—(INS)—The chilling note of an air raid alarm accidentally set off by a short circuit set all Paris on edge during the war crisis. The alarm, located on the roof of a church in the Paris Bourse quarter, blew for three minutes while traffic jammed up in the streets and anxious Parisiennes rushed from cafes and houses to glance fearfully skyward for a sight of enemy aircraft. The air-raid sirens normally are tested each Wednesday.

SUES DAIRY

Plymouth Woman Says Contract Broken, Asks $2,000.

Mrs. Mary Chappell, cream station operator at Plymouth, today had filed a $2,053 judgment suit in common pleas court against the Isaly Dairy company, Mansfield, charging breach of contract.

Mrs. Chappell, who opened an Isaly creamery in Plymouth six years ago, charges that the Isaly company violated its contract by paying her less commission than it promised, refusing to furnish supplies for the station, and deducting funds from her commission to apply on an $800 loan to Mrs. Chappell.

Her petition states that the defendant company has paid her only 2½ cents commission on each pound of butterfat since 1933 although it agreed to pay 3 cents.

Mrs. Chappell is represented by Atty. Clifford Brown of Norwalk.

QUESTION: What's the one car you can recognize at a glance?

QUESTION: What's the one car that has protected its owners against radical style changes?

Answer to both questions: PACKARD!

IF YOU WANT the car you buy to look smart and stay smart...

If you'd rather people would know, not guess at, the kind of car you're driving...

Then there's only one 1939 car you can consider seriously—a Packard. For Packard offers you beauty plus individuality. Packard, alone, offers you cars that are recognizable at a glance.

And from Packard you can be sure of getting a car built to a proven policy of protecting the owner against radical style changes.

This is worth thinking about seriously. And it's doubly serious if you buy your car by monthly payments. How much fun is it when radical style changes label your car a last year's model before half your payments are made?

So see your Packard dealer now. Learn how surprisingly easy a Packard is to own. See both the new Packard Six and Packard 120, stunning in smart new colors, and ready for immediate delivery. Get the facts—and discover that these better-quality cars are not only styled, but built, for years of faithful service!

We'll deliver a new 1939 Packard Six 5-Passenger Sedan to your door, with standard equipment for only $1145

Your present car, if of average value, will probably cover the small down payment of $382

Monthly payments can be arranged

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1938.

Hitler's regime in Germany gives an idea of what might happen here under a Ku Klux Klan dictatorship.

Looking toward almost any other part of the world, it shouldn't be difficult for Americans to be thankful that they are.

Now that the football season is about over, colleges can resume their secondary purpose of teaching young ideas how to shoot.

Month of Charity.

NOVEMBER has become a season of charitable giving through organizations dedicated to human service. Several hundred community chests are replenished throughout the country during November.

The American Red Cross conducts its annual roll call, beginning on Armistice Day. This is the drive for membership and the individual dues which help to build up the fund with which the organization does its great work. It is in November, too, that we begin to hear first about the Christmas Seals of the National Tuberculosis Association, the stamps by means of which money is raised to pay for preventive and health educational work in the unceasing battle against tuberculosis.

Last year the community chests of the land raised more than $80,000,000 for varied welfare work. The total Red Cross enrollment, including junior and senior memberships, was more than 18,000,000. Christmas Seals, while alike all over the country, are promoted locally and the funds raised are used locally, providing for health examinations, treatment, hospital beds and other needs.

Well-supported as these groups have been, they have never yet had as much money as they needed to do all the tasks waiting for them. Year by year, however, their supporters increase, as Americans realize their obligation to share what they have with those who have not, to improve social conditions and provide for emergencies.

Television Next, Then What?

VERY few people will be skeptical over the announcement that regular television broadcasts are scheduled to begin during New York's world's fair next year.

Television is already accepted as a reality, operative within a limited scope, and there is every reason for confidence that the next few years will bring wonderful improvement and expansion of facilities, just as was the case with the "talking machine," the radio and other products of inventive genius.

In considering television it is well to keep in mind the small beginnings of many other inventions and discoveries, as compared with the perfection since attained. Note the advances in land and air transportation; in methods of communication, from the first crude telephone to present facilities for talking around the world—and the radio, from the crystal sets of not so long ago, to the clear reception and wide range of current models.

Inventive genius and tireless energy, coupled with willingness to risk money in new enterprises, have been responsible for much of the progress that has been made up to this time.

Next comes television, which will bring pictures from the air. And that will not be the end. What other amazing things that are as yet undreamed of will be commonplace in fifty years from now?

German-Americans Protest.

THE GERMAN-AMERICAN CULTURE LEAGUE which has a membership of 80,000 throughout the United States, has issued a statement saying:

"We condemn the injustice, brutality and robbery committed by the Hitler government, and declare that the decent element of the Germans of the whole world strongly disapproves of the recent happenings in Germany."

German-American newspapers are taking the same patriotic stand. The New York Staats-Zeitung, foremost German paper in America, has expressed its horror at Nazi cruelties, and the Waechter und Anzeiger of Cleveland says:

"Even those German-Americans who let themselves be misled into false sympathies by the success of the Nazis in the field of foreign politics are awakening. The threats from yonder do not impress German-Americans. They stand loyally by the flag of American democracy and humanity."

Such declarations strengthen belief that fear and forcible suppression are all that make possible Hitler's Nazi rule over the German people.

Gain By Trade Treaty.

BENEFITS expected to come from the trade treaty between the United States and Great Britain make particularly interesting the figures which show benefits from the previous Canadian trade treaty which has been in operation for three years.

Canada's exports to this country in 1934, the last year before the trade agreement become effective, reached a value of $220,072,810, while her imports from here were $238,187,681. Under the trade treaty this interchange rose sharply in 1935 and 1936. In 1937 both Canada s exports to, and imports from, this side of the border exceeded $400,000,000.

There are people who think a foreign country's imports should rise but not its exports. That, unfortunately, is not the way trade grows. Unless finished products and raw materials move both ways, trade dies for all concerned.

Touring Abroad.

SEVEN THOUSAND American tourists took their cars to Europe last year, reports the president of the American Automobile association. Though few compared with the total number of motorists in the United States, as self-transporting tourists they have influenced highway customs abroad. Driving on the right is now the rule in all of Europe except Great Britain, Sweden and Denmark. Why those three hold out is hard to say.

Motoring Americans have caused other changes. By driving their own cars, they are able to leave the more familiar tourist trails. They can visit the smaller, out-of-the-way places, and in so doing they scatter the profits of the tourist business over a wider area.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—It is easy to gain the impression that the government is staffed with bright-eyed young men from the colleges, economists from who knows where, and mental mastadons rescued from the swamps of sordid business.

But, as the ancient lay would have it, 'tain't necessarily so.

Cast an eye about Washington and you discover the halls of government alive with dozens and hundreds of minor and major officials who won their spurs in state and city government and were promoted into federal service partly for the better pay and the greater glory.

* * *

Secretaries From the Ranks.

SECRETARY OF WAR WOODRING is a former governor of Kansas and Secretary of Labor Perkins first grew famous as head of the New York state labor department.

Secretary Morgenthau's experience as New York state conservation commissioner might better have fitted him for secretary of the interior than secretary of the treasury, but he is at the latter job now.

Harry Hopkins, super-cabinet member, was director of the New York state relief administration before he came to the federal government to undertake more spending than ever was entrusted to one man in the history of the country.

* * *

New Wage-Hour Man.

ELMER F. ANDREWS, who succeeded Secretary Perkins in the New York labor department, now is Wage-Hour administrator. His deputy, Paul Sifton, was deputy New York state industrial commissioner. Dr. Thomas Parran, chief of the bureau of public health, tuned up for his present job while New York state health commissioner. Nathan Straus, U. S. Housing administrator, formerly was special housing commissioner for New York City.

Dr. W. M. W. Splawn, chairman of the Interstate Commerce commission, formerly president of the University of Texas, was for a time a member of the Texas Railroad commission. Oscar B. Colquitt, once governor of Texas and again member of the railroad commission, now is with RFC.

Judge William R. Green of the U. S. court of claims first learned judging in the 15th Iowa judicial district. Norman B. Gray of Cheyenne, trial examiner for the federal trade commission, earlier was secretary of the Wyoming public service commission.

* * *

From Massachusetts.

EDWIN SMITH, member of the national labor relations board, once was Massachusett's commissioner of labor and industries. That state also contributed Dr. Winfred Overholser, once state commissioner of mental diseases, to head St. Elizabeth's (veterans' mental) hospital in Washington.

Guy Helvering, internal revenue commissioner, formerly was Kansas' highway director. His special assistant, Bertha Wetherton, reputedly one of the highest paid women in Washington, served several years as Kansas State accountant—as a Republican.

Frank Bane, executive director of social security, was formerly Virginia director of public welfare.

William E. Lee, formre Idaho chief justice, now is a member of the Interstate Commerce commission.

The supreme court has received many a judge trained in the states, the late Justice Holmes and Cardozo being most prominent recent examples. Federal district and circuit courts are plump with state talent.

Then too, President Roosevelt himself used to have a state job—governor of New York.

And we've barely scratched the surface.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Friday, Nov. 22, 1918.

Charles H. Voegele was elected grand sword bearer of the Ohio Commandery, Knights Templar at Akron.

William C. Johnson, 184 East Fourth street, a Spanish war veteran, died after a long illness.

Mansfield Elk lodge celebrated the 32nd anniversary of its founding.

Many Mansfielders attended the community ox roast at Hayesville, held in celebration of the end of the war.

Fire destroyed a part of the siding of the home of Lyman Ostrander, Reba avenue.

Henry Basore and L. Tressel, Mansfield Civil war veterans were both injured in different auto accidents.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Wednesday, Nov. 22, 1933.

Mr. and Mrs. John Scrafield and Mr. and Mrs. James O'Brien observed their golden wedding anniversaries.

J. L. Metcalf addressed bi-weekly meeting of Gyro club.

Shelby Cycle company announced plant expansion plans.

C. C. Secrist, Prospect school principal, was host to principals of city schools at stag dinner.

THE EMBARRASSED NEW FRIEND

Liberals Lose Because of Split

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Their recent bad luck at the polls is forcing a closer alliance of the country's more or less ultra-liberal political groups.

LaFollette

Wisconsin's Progressive Governor Philip F. LaFollette and Minnesota's Farmer - Labor Governor Elmer A. Benson, as we know, were outright licked for re-election. Governor George H. Earle's defeat in Pennsylvania and Governor Frank Murphy's in Michigan, especially were slaps in the face for John L. Lewis' CIO outfit. Governor Herbert H. Lehman's Democratic re-election in New York was, in a sense, a triumph for Manhattan Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia's American Labor Party, by very reason of the narrowness of Lehman's margin of victory. That is to say, LaGuardia is in a position to contend that the governor wouldn't have won at all if the American Labor Party hadn't backed him.

Nevertheless, general results were not of a character to suit as advanced a statesman as the mayor. He proved that by his call to liberal leaders to get together with him in Washington, to save their collective movement from falling into a regular tail spin. Senator George W. Norris or Nebraska, is another liberal party, not specifically designated, which didn't like election results either.

And of course the left wing Democrats are jittery. Considering that the Democratic label still is in approximately a 2-to-1 majority in congress and better than that among governors, they can't exactly be said to have been beaten, but they know that left-wingism has lost ground a-plenty.

Haven't Pulled Together.

Now, these left wingers realize that their respective "blocs" haven't pulled together very effectively.

For instance:

If Farmer-Laborites, Progressives, left wing Democrats and Norris-ites had been united in Minnesota and Wisconsin, Governors Benson and LaFollette doubtless would have been re-elected. But they voted every which way, and were licked as a lot of little minorities—where as they might have been a majority if they'd stuck together.

LaGuardia's notion is to effect a combination.

Senator "Young Bob" LaFollette's philosophy is ditto. His brother already has been eliminated as governor of Wisconsin. In 1940 Young Bob himself will be up for senatorial re-election. Since his brother could be beaten, so can he, possibly. Which would be the end of LaFollette domination of the Badger commonwealth. It should go without saying that he's for liberal cohesion.

But the trouble is that these liberals have, among themselves, such divergent theories.

The conservatives are solid. They want eevrything left alone, absolutely.

The liberals want change, but no school of them wants the same changes as its rival schools. Can they agree on anything? It wouldn't seem so. Otherwise why haven't they coalesced already? Mayor LaGuardia will have to go some to get them to do it.

We ought, long ago, to have had two new parties — a conservative and a liberal.

Look at Wheeler!

The conservatives are one party automatically.

The liberals split just as certainly. Look, for example, at the case of Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana. Time was when he rated as a rampant radical. Now he classes as a reactionary —just because he differs from current New Dealerism.

As to President Roosevelt?

It generally is agreed that the late vote wasn't against HIM.

He remains popular.

The ballot was against him; yet not against him.

Sort that out.

Timely Editorial

An Unbiased Opinion.

Among the sanest thinkers of today Ida Tarbell ranks high. A great many people think they're thinking when they're merely meditating, musing or just simply cruising around among their memories. That is not thinking any more than watching another person work is exercise. Ida Tarbell assembles data, reasons from cause to effect, makes clear deductions and when she expresses a definite opinion it is worthy of consideration.

So when Miss Tarbell makes a statement it is a considered statement, not something said on the impulse of the moment. When she says she believes the CIO is "too violent", one may be sure that she has some basis for this belief. This violence places it on a war policy and "there is no more excuse for war in industry than there is for war between nations." Furthermore, this distinguished writer believes that labor, industrial, and diplomatic leaders should all commit themselves to policies of cooperation and conciliation—Newark Advocate.

Health Advice

Chemicals Figure In Nerve Control.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

"THE CENTER of the soul" has never been discovered and probably never will be discovered by the physiologist's scalpel. But the center of the sub-soul stands a very good chance of being revealed.

By the sub-soul we mean the control of all those functions in our bodies which carry on the work and business of being an animal. We have already studied the involuntary nervous system which exerts a control on the secretion of glands, the movements of the heart, the rate of breathing and the distribution of blood to one part of the body or another.

Probable Answer.

The question arises as to how this involuntary nervous system itself is controlled. The answer is probably that different chemicals are formed in the body in response to its needs and that these act on the involuntary nervous system.

Many of these chemicals arise in the secretion of the ductless glands. Of the glands, the adrenal bodies probably exert the most continuous effects. The adrenal bodies, indeed, are partly made up of nervous tissue of the same kind as the involuntary nervous system itself. And these very nerve cells secrete a substance which modifies their own action.

We know that the adrenal medulla secretes ardenalin. Adrenalin can be manufactured synthetically outside the body and is one of the most powerful acting drugs we have in medicine. Applied to a mucous membrane, like the inside of the cheek, it will contract the blood vessels and blanch the part. It does the same thing probably from minute to minute inside the body. If the stomach is full of a meal and needs plenty of blood to digest it, that is arranged by blood being taken from another organ which does not need blood so badly.

Adrenalin affects the eyes, heart, intestinal movements, muscular movements, blood pressure and other parts of the body. The way it makes adjustments is illustrated in Dr. Cannon's now well-known account of fear. Fear may be nothing more than an extra amount of adrenalin in the blood, for that produces all the phenomena of fear. It makes the muscles very receptive to movement so that you can run away easily. It makes the heart pound, the breath come short, the eyes bulge out and causes emotional excitement.

We know of a number of other drugs whose action is selective on the autonomic nervous system—atropine and pilocarpine, physostigmine and muscarine, for instance. Many of the drugs which people take regularly—tobacco, alcohol, coffee, etc—exert their effects on the involuntary nervous system.

In fact, it is not too much to say that as we learn more about it, we may learn how to regulate the processes of life far better than we do now.

Even surgery has been found to be useful in these conditions. For instance, angina pectoris, which is due to spasms in the blood vessels of the heart, may be relieved by removing certain involuntary nervous ganglia in the neck, which have some regulatory influence on those vessels.

And those peculiar conditions in which the blood vessels of the feet become spastic have been greatly helped by stripping the network of nervous ganglia around the arterial walls.

How It Started

"Hobgoblin of Little Minds."

Consistency, goes the common saying, is the hobgoblin of little minds.

This, however, is neither the letter nor the spirit of the original version.

The words are a misquotation of a sentence in Self-Reliance, an essay by Ralph Waldo Emerson, published with others in one volume, in 1841.

As set down by the Concord philosopher, the line reads:

"A foolish consistency is the hobgoblin of little minds, adored by little statesmen and philosophers and divines."

A Farmer's Diary

Between Two Pups.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE old house stood on the hill beside the glen. The renters had moved out, and the door was left partially open. I stepped upon the porch and had put out my hand toward the knob, when around the corner came two barking, snarling pups.

They were black and white mongrels, with little claim to beauty. I thought their grandparents must have been terriers and hounds. There may have been a spaniel among the ancestry, and perchance, a blue blooded Scottie relative-in-law, way down the line. They had loud challenging voices and beastly dispositions. They could not tell an honest man, like me, from any common tramp.

I put out a friendly hand and called, "Here, doggie," in my pleasantest tones. No use. They did not trust my gesture and stood on each side, quite near my heels, growling and yapping.

In desperation, I walked into the house and closed the door behind me. I heard them trot around the corner and crawl, still muttering throatily, beneath the rear shed.

I explored the interior. It was built of walnut timbers, warped and sagging, now, with age. It had been home to many folks through many years. The kitchen plaster had fallen down, and the floor was uneven and crooked. The ample pantry shelves were bare, but one could imagine them filled with food, and smell the aroma of meals cooked and served within these walls. I followed the narrow stairway up to the sleeping rooms above, where from the windows, one could look across the wooded glen.

A motor car came rattling up the stony hill and I heard a duet of welcoming barks. I went downstairs in time to see a man and his wife alight from their car.

"We came back to get the pups and the rest of the things in the cellar," they explained. "Most of the goods were moved this mornnig. Don't want a good little dog, do you?"

"No, thanks," I said.

"They didn't bother you, I hope," remarked the man's wife. "This one here has a temper, the little vixen!"

"Oh, no," I said, "They didn't bother me." But I thought one sly pup looked at the other and winked.

Listen, World!

Courage.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

COURAGE—what cockeyed notions we have about it. We think of courage as a flame which fires our cowardly flesh to heroic deeds. What a buoyant thing to be a hero! How heroes must thrill and tingle!

Or we think of courage as constant quality which some people have, some haven't. You're brave or you're not; just as you're short or tall, blond or brunette.

Of course you'd prefer to be brave. It must be wonderful to face life without flinching—to be always sure of oneself. How lucky to be made like that! But if you aren't, you aren't; that's all.

So we dream and drool—and run away at the first boogieman—merely because our ideas of courage are all muddled. Whereas, if we were taught the truth, we might all be brave.

FOR COURAGE IS SOMETHING ANYONE CAN ACQUIRE.

Courage isn't a flame which seizes us and sweeps us on to superhuman feats. Nor is courage a birth gift.

No one is "born brave." We are all born cowards—and must fight fear all our lives.

AND THE FIGHT IS USUALLY TOUGHEST AT THAT VERY MOMENT WHEN WE SEEM MOST HEROIC.

Heroes do not thrill and tingle. They ache and shiver. They want to cry.

In short, in the face of unpleasantness, discomfort and danger a brave man feels exactly as a timid man feels. He has exactly the same reluctance to go ahead, the same miserable sense of insecurity and the same identical knots in his rebellious insides.

Then why are some men heroes, and some cowards?

BECAUSE SOME MEN CHOOSE TO BE HEROES AND SOME CHOOSE TO BE COWARDS.

Courage isn't an emotional seizure. Nor is it an inheritance.

COURAGE IS A DELIBERATE ATTITUDE — A CIVILIZED HABIT.

The brave man is as much afraid as the timid man, and he knows it. But he won't surrender to that fear. He won't let it rule him.

He has been taught, and he has taught himself, that yielding to fear is abominable. He has watched the kind of men who do yield to fear—who let fear rule them. He has seen how that surrender affects every department of their lives; how it cheats and betrays them. He has noted, also, the enormous amount of time and energy which cowards consume in their ducking and dodging. He sees what a bad bargain cowardice is, and that no proud man can live comfortably inside himself if he yields to fear.

So the brave man determines to be brave. Chances are he never really feels brave. He is never buoyed up by courage. He is frightened all his life. But he goes ahead and makes the gestures.

ANYONE CAN BE BRAVE.

ANY CHILD CAN BE TAUGHT TO BE BRAVE.

WE CAN CHOOSE TO BE BRAVE EXACTLY AS WE CHOOSE TO BE HONEST, TIDY, PROMPT AND POLITE.

That is the truth about courage. It is a very simple truth, and it lacks the sensationalism of the heroic hooey with which we stuff our silly minds. And because it's plain and practical most of us will prefer the hooey. That's a pity. For it's a dreary thing to stay a coward when you might, by doing the daily dozen, go up and over the top.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—For a long time now I have been buying my peanuts from Ray Kinney. Mr. Kinney sells Hawaiian peanuts and a very fine peanut they are.

Of course I realize you may not like Hawaiian peanuts, and in that case you do not have to take them. For on this island there are many fine peanut stands, and all of them offer a wide and extraordinary selection to choose from.

There is, for example, Mr. Jimmy Dorsey's peanut stand. He sells a sort of sweetish, peanut with a swing to it. Then there is Mr. Benny Goodman's stand. His goobers are altogether swing. I have various Cuban and South American friends who retail a peanut with a rhythmic and fascinating rhumba hump. And if you must go further I can point out the Viennese and Russian as well.

* * *

BUT I intend to string along with Kinney for awhile. I sail for the palm trees and the steel guitar. To me the gentle swish of a little grass skirt is infinitely more desirable than the calm detachment of an Alice blue gown. Let the shrill Harlem trumpets go past. I will tune my ear to a vagrant trade wind. And while you are off looking for Flat Foot Floogie I will rest in the shade by the long blue lagoon and let the cocoanuts bounce off my head.

And so with a friendly nod to the Lombardos and all others I would like to suggest that the most pleasing influence on popular music in New York during the last couple of years has been Hawaiian.

It wasn't sudden, like a war or a flood, and for that reason it hasn't gone out like a Johnny One Note. It was gradual and imperceptible, and it insinuated itself so subtly into the popular fancy that you never suspected or saw it coming, until you wakened one morning and started to hum something about Aloha, and you knew it was here.

The man largely responsible for this pleasant state of affairs is Ray Kinney. A year and a half ago he arrived in town practically unknown. He opened the now famous Hawaiian room, and he caught on. He was here for a long time. Then he went away, and while he was gone it was Lani McIntyre who took his place and did it so capably that he probably will come back to replace Ray again when he leaves sometime in January for a visit to the Islands.

* * *

OF COURSE if there hadn't been a Hawaiian room there wouldn't be a definite Hawaiian trend in New York today. But Charley Rochester believed in the idea so strongly that he sent for Jac Lessman and told him to go ahead and build a room that would suit every need. Charley Rochester is managing director of the Lexington hotel, and Lessman is a famous interior decorator.

This room was the springboard for what New York likes to regard as a fine personality. For Kinney's fan mail is now enormous, and the postman doesn't ring your door very often unless he thinks a lot of you. He has made more than 100 records, and many of those langnorous and nostalgic laments are his own compositions. He sings from 50 to 75 songs every night. And that's selling peanuts. Mind you, I'm not trying to wean you away from Vallee or Morgan or anybody. But when I stumble onto something good I like for my friends to share it with me.

Ohio Anecdotes

THE HALL OF FREEDOM

"The Hall of Freedom" was a large barn outside the corporation limits of Granville, in which, on Thursday, April 27, 1836, the Ohio Anti-Slavery convention was obliged to meet.

So embittered were the majority of Granville's citizenry, including the mayor, that they signed a remonstrance against holding such a meeting within the city. In spite of the opposition, some 200 anti-slavery men gathered in A. A. Bancroft's barn.

Immediately following the society's business meeting, the delegates marched into Granville, only to be set upon, and some were injured. The people of Granville became contrite, and as a reaction, Granville became one of the most important stations along the "underground railway," a device to aid fleeing slaves.

SENATOR URGES 'POLICE' PLAN FOR ELECTIONS

Sheppard Advocates Permanent Committee to Probe Vote Drives, Draft Laws.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Dismayed by the complaints of widespread irregularities in the recent national elections, Senator Morris Sheppard (D) of Texas, today advocated creation of a permanent senate committee to police campaigns and make recommendations for legislation.

Sheppard is chairman of the special senate committee which policed the senatorial campaigns in the recent elections. His group will meet Nov. 28 to consider final reports from investigators and prepare a report to the senate.

He said his committee was "so busy acting on complaints received during the recent campaigns that we have not had time to consider remedial legislation." He continued:

"Our committee will make a comprehensive report to the senate when it convenes in January. It is my thought that a permanent committee should be established to consider amendments to the law, after hearings, and during election years this committee could serve as watchers to act on complaints of wrong-doing."

Policing Not Customary.

While the senate committee on elections and privileges is charged with passing upon qualifications of newly-elected members, it has not been customary for that committee to police campaigns while they are in progress, or study proposals for amendments to the federal corrupt practices act, Sheppard explained.

His committee received scores of complaints that WPA officials and employes were using their offices to further the candidacy of aspirants for the senate. These complaints came mainly from Kentucky, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, though there were numerous complaints from other states alleging various illegal practices.

Strenuous efforts will be made in the new congress for tightening of the law respecting contributions by federal employes to campaign funds and to prevent participation of federal officials and employes in political conventions and campaigns.

Revival of the Hatch amendment to prohibit any federal official or employe, save those confirmed by the senate, from being delegates or alternates to any convention at which nominees for the presidency, vice presidency or congress are chosen, was forecast by legislators.

This proposal, sponsored by Senator Carl Hatch (D) of New Mexico, lost by a slight margin at the last session of congress.

Among the legislative recommendations favored by Sheppard is a constitutional amendment to give congress the power to regulate primary elections that it has over the general elections after nominees are chosen.

Sheppard said his committee took a hand in the recent primary campaigns under the general authority of the senate to judge the qualifications of its members.

made only a passing remark regarding British Kenya and remained completely silent regarding Uganda.

"The British government has the right to freely dispose of the two last named territories but it is well-known that it is the opposite in the case of the mandated territory of Tanganyika."

Build More Camps.

New concentration camps were being built and it appeared that until mass emigration could be accomplished, an even larger number of Jews would be confined in them.

It was reported in Vienna that in all camps the Nazis have introduced racial principles. Jews are being separated from non-Jewish prisoners.

To "stigmatize" the Jews, Nazis ordered Jewish doctors to post the "yellow" star of David, symbol of the medieval ghettos, on their office doors.

The star appears on a blue background. Underneath was printed "for medical treatment of Jews only."

Ask Roosevelt to Bar German Goods.

NEW YORK —(AP)— President Roosevelt was asked today to impose an embargo against all German goods.

The embargo was demanded at a mass protest meeting in Madison Square Garden last night sponsored by American organizations actively opposed to the Nazi regime's policies concerning it minorities. Police estimated more than 20,000 attended.

Spectators leaped to their feet shouting when William Weiner, president of the Jewish peoples' committee, said:

"Let us organize such an irresistible movement that its voice will span the ocean, give hope to the victims and bring fear to the persecutors."

Scores of persons in the audience forwarded to President Roosevelt individual copies of a general telegram praising the administration for calling home Ambassador Wilson and urging him to follow that action by declaring a complete embargo.

Germany, Hungary In 'War of Words.'

VIENNA—(U.P.)—A war of words between Germany and Hungary filled the air waves today emphasizing a tense situation over the autonomous Czechoslovak province of Ruthenia, where armed clashes threaten an international incident.

The radio statements from Germany were much the same as those used to prepare the atmosphere for Germany's annexation of Sudetenland.

While accurate reports from the scene of the "disturbances" in Ruthenia were difficult to obtain, the press in Budapest published details of alleged "terrorism" there.

The Hungarian newspapers published the text of telegrams allegedly sent by the population of Rutherian villages to Adolf Hitler and Premier Benito Mussolini asking their aid in obtaining union with Hungary.

Villages asking union were said to total 135. The entire press was urging immediate action.

While Hungary and Poland desire to annex Ruthenia, which forms the eastern tip of Czechoslovakia, and thus obtain a common frontier, Germany was understood to be determined to keep this corridor to the east open.

HEAR SECRETARY OF OHIO Y. M. C. A.

Bucyrus Fund Drive in Last Effort to Reach Quota.

ASHLAND—With one day of the tenth annual Community Chest drive remaining, volunteer workers began today to overcome a large deficit over the past year. After five days of soliciting pledges were much less than in former years.

On Saturday night, the close of five days of soliciting, pledges at headquarters totaled $19,446. A year ago the drive had reached a collection of $21,059.

Within these two days of the drive, which is scheduled to close tonight, $6,554, nearly one-fourth of the entire goal, must be collected to reach the goal of $26,000.

SHELBY PASTOR'S SON TO SPEAK

SHELBY—A delegation from First Methodist church will leave Friday morning to attend the North-East Ohio Youth conference of the Methodist Episcopal churches at Ashland. Dr. Edward Staples of Chicago, son of Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Staples of the Shelby Methodist church, will be one of the principal speakers at the conference Saturday. Dr. Staples is secretary of the Young People's board of the Methodist church.

UNION SERVICES SET WEDNESDAY

SHELBY—Union Thanksgiving service of the Shelby churches will be held Wednesday night at the First Presbyterian church. Rev. Stanley Fritz, supply pastor of the First Evangelical and Reformed church, will be the speaker. Special music for the service will be sung by the choir of the Presbyterian church.

JURY CONVENES

ASHLAND—Sixteen cases will be considered by the grand jury which opened a special session here Monday.

The jury is composed of T. J. Stence, foreman; Cloyd Miller, Frances Kelley, Eva Kauffman, George Beck, Alto Karns, Virginia Byers, Jacy Bowman, B. C. Wolf, Bessie Fast, Marjorie Sutton, Paul Bellamy, Stella Boyer, Pearl Kreiling and Ida Semler.

FALL INJURES ENGINEER

YOUNGSTOWN —(U.P.)— Victory Gettys, 39, police radio engineer, was in serious condition today after falling from a 60-foot pole while adjusting a radio antennae. His safety belt broke, he fell to the roof of a building, and rolled to the ground nine feet below.

CHRISTMAS MEETINGS PLANNED BY P. T. A. GROUPS AT GALION

GALION—Plans for the Christmas meeting were made at the regular meeting Monday night at the West Elementary and Junior High P. T. A. at the Junior High building. Mrs. S. A. Rhoades presided when it was also decided that the association would again make a canvass for the Red Cross. Invocation was given by Rev. J. C. Leonard, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene.

The program chairman was Mrs. W. E. Taylor. After group singing led by Mrs. O. E. Hill, there were a number of talks by teachers of the schools. These were given by Virginia Sydenstricker, physical education instructor for girls; Minnie Schaefer and Alice Mehrling, art instructors; Elsa Dapper, Ruth Stevens, Richard Horn, science teachers; Louise Lorentz, music teacher; and Ralph Telfer, industrial arts teacher.

Various phases of journalism were outlined in a talk by Martha Goshorn, society editor of the Galion newspaper, when she was speaker at the regular meeting of the Gertrude E. Mann chapter, Quill and Scroll, honorary journalism fraternity of Galion high school, held Monday night at the home of Jeanette Nagelbush.

With Richard Rose presiding, plans were discussed to sponsor the appearance of a prominent speaker here this winter.

Refreshments were served by Miss Nagelbush assisted by Thyra Schmauch, Richard Secrest, Lawrence Maidens, and Jean Ailes.

F. R. Freer, magician, who presented a program before the Galion high school student body this morning, was the entertainer Monday night for the Galion Rotary club.

H. O. Stopp of Willard was a guest. He is sponsoring the candidacy of Charles M. Sutton of Attica for district governor of the 157th district of Rotary.

D. D. Montoya of Ashland and B. W. Myers of Galion were guests.

A scavenger hunt was enjoyed by members of the Masque club and one guest, Mary Ann Johnston, when the group was entertained Monday night by Thelma Hulse. Initiation was held for two members, Mrs. Donald Yochem and Leila Wittibschlager.

Hostesses Monday night for the Good Will club meeting in St. Patrick's social auditorium were Mrs. C. A. Ernst and Mrs. Anna Flavin. Cards, contests, prizes and refreshments were provided.

The Past Councilors association of Golden Link council, Daughters of America, was entertained Monday night by Mrs. J. L. Wintermute at the home of Mrs. Silas Shumaker. Cards was the diversion.

A group of friends surprised Mrs. R. P. Thomas at her home Monday evening in honor of her birthday anniversary, an event of Wednesday.

The 84th birthday anniversary of Mrs. J. W. Kelly was celebrated Sunday with her family at her home at 250 South Union street. The birthday was an event of Friday, Nov. 18. Guests were present from Cleveland, Columbus and Detroit, Mich.

COUNTY'S AGED FACING SECOND PENSION DELAY

Still Without U. S. Aid, State Must Borrow If November Checks Are to Go Out.

Richland county's 1,150 old age pensioners today faced another long wait for their November pensions, due Friday, unless Gov. Martin L. Davey again borrows enough money to pay the pensions in full.

Failure to pay pensions this month would deprive Richland county's aged of $25,804, or approximately $22.50 each. Because of lack of funds, they did not receive their October pension checks until Nov. 14.

Only $777,150 will be available at the end of this month to pay pensions totaling $2,584,297, International News Service dispatches said, and with the governor still at odds with the federal social security board, there is little chance that the state will receive its share of federal funds in November.

Borrowed Million.

Gov. Davey borrowed $1,000,000 from the state's general fund two weeks ago to pay the October pensions when the federal government cut off its half of the pension money, following a dispute with the governor.

Richland county's 1,150 old age pensioners today faced another long wait for their November pensions, due Friday, unless Gov. Martin L. Davey again borrows enough money to pay the pensions in full.

Before resuming payments to Ohio, the social security board said Gov. Davey must comply with certain requirements for changes in the state's pension set-up, ordered following an investigation in the state.

Mayson Hayhurst, manager in the state auditor's office, said there is still a chance Ohio will get its federal pension money if the requirements are complied with. The board has indicated it might pay half of the federal share for October, totaling about $625,000, he said.

Describes Plight Of Chinese Since Start of Invasion

Hollis H. Wilbur, international secretary of the Y. M. C. A., home on furlough from his headquarters in Shanghai, China, told Mansfield Rotarians today of conditions in various parts of China since the start of the Japanees invasion.

Using a large map of China to show locations, Wilbur told of the start made by Japan in the attempted conquest of China, and of later occurrences as troops advanced and one city after another was relinquished by Chinese defenders.

"The stories of atrocities committed by the invading armies were not exaggerated," he said, "they could not be exaggerated, as actual conditions were even worse than they could be pictured."

Work of the Y. M. C. A. in China has been greatly broadened as a result of war conditions, according to the speaker, who told of the great need for rehabilitation and relief in sections to which refugees fled from captured cities.

Edward D. Baxter, who was present as a guest, introduced the speaker.

FUNERAL SET

CRESTLINE—Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. for Mrs. Clifford H. Hoffman, 38, who died Sunday at Emergency hospital following an operation.

BOARD NAMES 3 CUSTODIANS

Authorizes Installation of Fire Door Equipment, Rents Gymnasium.

The Mansfield board of education last night confirmed the appointment of a head janitor at Bowman school and two assistant janitors at the Bowman and John Simpson school buildings.

Certified by the Mansfield civil service commission, Virgil Kennedy, Burnese avenue, was named head janitor at the Bowman school. Raymond E. Bright, 15 Pleasant avenue, was made an assistant at the same building, and John W. Stanley, Fifth avenue, was appointed assistant janitor at John Simpson junior high school.

The board authorized J. B. Moke, superintendent of buildings, to install a lightning rod on the Woodland school boiler stack at a cost of $98.35. He was given provisional authority to install modern panic bolts on 50 fire escape doors in the city's schools at $18.50 per door.

Installation of the equipment will not be made, however, until the board has more funds available, Moke said. The bolts will be installed on the recommendation of the state fire marshal who recently inspected the city's school buildings.

The board gave Vernon E. Jones, president of the city class "A" basketball league, permission to use the Senior high school gymnasium for the season, beginning Dec. 5, for one night a week at $5 per night.

TAKES ACTION ON BUILDING OF GAS STATIONS

Crestline Council Authorizes Legislation to Require Residents' Permits.

CRESTLINE—City Solicitor F. B. Cottery was instructed at Monday night's session of city council to draw up an ordinance prohibiting the erection of gasoline stations in residence districts without the consent of surrounding property owners. They are also required to get a permit from the city.

Mayor L. F. Waldbauer presided for the meeting. A sum of $1,241 received from the auditor of state from gasoline tax was appropriated by resolution as follows: $827.33 into street maintenance, $248.20 into street cleaning and $165.47 highway fund.

A resolution was also passed accepting the amount and tax rates as specified by the budget commission and certified to the county auditor. A motion was made that the village purchase 18-inch tile for the Union street sewer.

The pay ordinance amounting to $806.45 was allowed.

A discussion regarding the renewal of the white way light contract was held with all members participating but no definite action was taken.

GROUP HOLDS DINNER

CRESTLINE—A group of men and women who spent several weeks this summer on a fishing trip to Canada and who have now organized as the "Canadian Furriner's club" celebrated the birthday anniversaries of six members which are events of the month of November, with a roast pig dinner, Sunday at the Roxy restaurant.

The dinner was served at 2:30 p. m. at one long table centered with the roast pig and with birthday cakes with lighted tapers at either end.

This Lady "Never Felt Better In Her Life"

Says "World's Tonic Famous Medicine" After Her Constipation Was Relieved.

Nerves Calmed Down When Other Troubles Removed

Hundreds of men and women who have taken WORLD'S TONIC tell us gladly how it helped them and are willing that their message be given out to others who suffer in like manner and advise them to try WORLD'S TONIC.

Mrs. C. Campbell of 341 Bell St., Barberton, O., says: "Often my nerves were so unstrung that I couldn't do my housework and I'd feel so shaky all over that I was unable to sew. I'd become depressed and blue, my memory would play tricks and I'd forget where I put things. Because I could only get a few hours sleep at best during the night, mornings would find me miserable. I'd be quite irritable and skeptical of everybody and the days seemed to just drag by.

"My stomach was so weak and upset that I hated the sight of food. What food I did eat had no taste for me. What little food I could occasionally force down always caused gas and acid and a sour stomach that made me feel the discomfort of acid indigestion time and time again.

"I was never free from constipation for a day and had a feeling that my food was decaying in my stomach because my breath was so offensive.

"I read about WORLD'S TONIC and got some and, for me, it proved to be just what was needed. It has made me feel like an entirely different person. As a fact, I can't remember when I felt so good. My constipation was quickly relieved and I began to get restful and sound sleep. My nerves calmed down and my appetite improved greatly. I go to the table now and eat whatever I wish with no fear of gas or sourness. The dizzy spells and headaches don't bother me any more either. My housework does not tire me out as before and I feel bright and cheerful once again. WORLD'S TONIC has done me all sorts of good that's why I want you to add my name to your list of satisfied customers. No matter how many kinds of different medicines you have tried nor how much money you have spent, don't give up until you have tried WORLD'S TONIC. It made me feel new and modern as the times, so I say 'Here's to WORLD'S TONIC.'"

WORLD'S TONIC contains roots, barks, herbs and leaves brought here from many different parts of the old world because, although they may grow in the United States, many such ingredients lack the medicinal values and are entirely differnt in content, action and result from those growing in old world climates. Thus we find in WORLD'S TONIC portions of medicines made by nature before science, yet taking their place with modern medical science.

WORLD'S TONIC is for sale at Central Drug Store and all other modern drug stores. (E-27)—Adv.

ATTENDANCE IN CITY SCHOOLS OFF 2 PER CENT

Carpenter Again Tops Other Buildings; October Average 94.9, Report Shows.

Attendance in Mansfield public schools in October dropped off two per cent as compared with the preceding month, and Carpenter school continued to head the list in percentage of attendance, reports to Supt. W. L. Miller showed today.

Average attendance in October was 94.9 per cent as compared with 96.9 per cent in September. The records showed 3,757 pupils were neither absent nor tardy last month while 4,375 had the same record in September. Average daily attendance was 6,474 pupils.

To top the city's schools, Carpenter rolled up a 97.8 per cent attendance in October as against 98.4 in the preceding month. John Simpson junior high was second with 97.7 per cent and five schools were tied for third place with 97 per cent. They were Brinkerhoff, Bushnell, Prospect, Newman and West Fifth schools.

41 Cases of Truancy.

There were 41 cases of truancy and 490 cases of tardiness during the month. John Simpson junior high reported 21 truancy cases, Senior high, nine; Hedges junior high, seven, and Carpenter, three.

Senior high school had 147 cases of tardiness; John Simpson junior high, 113; Bowman, 48; Brinkerhoff, 33; Newman, 31, and Hedges junior high, 30.

The deaf school, conservation of vision and Sunshine schools had no truancy nor tardy cases.

Enrollments for the month showed John Simpson junior high heading the list with 1,383 pupils and Senior high second with 1,357. Bowman school, with 860 pupils, had the largest enrollment of the city's public elementary schools.

RITES ARE SET

Frank Volk, Former Resident of Bucyrus, Stricken.

BUCYRUS — Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. at the Henderson and Lutz funeral home for Frank Volk, 50, former Bucyrus resident, who died in Avalon, Pa., following a two years illness. Burial will be made in Oakwood cemetery.

Mr. Volk was born in Bucyrus, Dec. 17, 1887. His marriage to Mural Wynn took place in 1915. His widow survives and two children, Wynn and Mural Volk, both at home; three brothers, Edwin and Carl, both of Bucyrus, and Herman of Cleveland, and one sister, Mrs. Anna Andrews of Bucyrus, and his aged mother, Mrs. Lena Volk of Bucyrus

The deceased was employed as a wage statistician at the central plant of the Pennsylvania railroad company in Pittsburgh. He was a member of the Lutheran church and of the Masonic lodge.

SUES BOARD ON ROAD CONTRACT

Fremont Prosecutor Names County Officials In $4,413 Action.

FREMONT — (UP) — A suit by Prosecutor A. L. Hyzer on file in common pleas court today asked recovery of $4,413.91 from two Sandusky county commissioners, their bondsmen, and Claude C Waltermier, Columbus highway material salesman, based on findings in a state examiner's report

The suit was filed in behalf of the county taxpayers and had its origin in a finding by State Examiner H. W. Wendelken who reported that $12,401.03 was spent for bituminous road material and held that the cost would have been only $7,987 12 if the contract had been let to the lowest bidder

ROMANCE, INC. + + +

By OREN ARNOLD

(Copyright, 1938)

READ THIS FIRST:

Sara Sue Davis, attractive young widow, with the aid of her mother-in-law, rents a cottage near the campus of Rice Institute, in Texas, in preparation for the launching of a unique business venture. Bob Towne, football end and campus hero, and some of the other students, are arrested by the new sign in front of the Davis cottage announcing a "COUNCIL IN ROMANCE." Sara Sue explains her Cottage Plan to a group of students and finds them greatly interested. Bob Towne even asks HER for a date.

CHAPTER 4.

"NOW IF things aren't already in a mess!" Sara Sue Davis told herself, severely.

The first group of collegians had come and gone, nearly 40 of them in her Cottage Plan. Moreover, the very first one, Number 1, on her receipt book, was the president of the student body, the most popular man on the Rice campus, she had learned. Big Bob Towne, football's star end. With his enthusiasm for a precedent, she should prosper as hoped. But—

That very Number 1 customer had also proved to be problem Number 1. She, Sara Sue Davis, Inc., had advertised Counsel in Romance Customer Number 1 had immediately paid up, then asked for counsel. His first request was to take Sara Sue herself to a downtown show.

"I cannot permit it, mother," Sara Sue stated vehemently over their supper sandwiches that evening. "I shall telephone him he can't come. I must not mix up in the campus social life, I must direct it instead! Don't you see?"

Mother Davis had not argued the point, nor indeed offered any comment at all. She was just being a tolerant foil for Sara Sue's argument with herself A wise mother-in-law, who was really more than that now.

* * *

Nevertheless, as with most arguments, this one had two sides. Perhaps being seen with Bob Towne would add to her own popularity and prestige, the girl reasoned After all, she had to be accepted by the students, had to be "in" with them, she realized, or she could never hope to hold their confidence nor their patronage.

She was kept busy from 6 p m until almost 8 o'clock anyway, by other students who were coming in. It seemed as if her musical door chimes were constantly ringing. News of her venture had spread over the school—nowhere does news get around faster than on a college campus—and visitors were coming. Sara Sue signed up eight new members in those two hours, collecting in advance. Even the editor of The Thresher joined, and promptly arranged a Monday night party in her cottage for his staff, ordering refreshments and paying for them. Sara Sue was delighted. In the rush she forgot all about cancelling her date with Bob Towne, until the door rang at 8:05 and there he was!

"Oh!"

She looked up at him. He was a model of cleanliness His face positively shone—from shaving as well as from his smile. His newest suit was immaculate. And he held flowers.

"I thought we might dance somewhere, for a little bit," he explained. "But I can't stay late. Football training. I must be in bed at 11 o'clock. Positively. Jimmy Britt? Oh, sure. Coach Britt. Well—"

"May I come in?"

"Oh, surely, Mr. Towne! I am the awfullest thing! Come in. I didn't mean to—I was thoughtless!"

* * *

She had meant to explain why she couldn't go with him, but now he had her doubly at a disadvantage First, he had made his date quickly, unexpectedly. Then she had been too busy (and too unsure of herself) to cancel it. Finally he had come so graciously, and caught her being impolite, and—

"I'm not dressed for a dance," she smiled, suddenly deciding, "but I can change in a moment."

"Please don't. It's all right. We'll go to a quiet, informal place. The Southern Blue room is good. Or we can still go to the early movies if you prefer. I have three hours.

"All right. I really ought to stay and attend to business. Mother is out, and customers are coming. Look."

True enough, half a dozen more young men were crossing toward her cottage from the dormitory gate. Bob and she knew they were interested, as was all the student body that had arrived so far.

At this instant Bob caught a glimpse of Calculus Jones dusting in Sara Sue's dining room

"You, Calculus!" he called.

"Yassuh, Mistuh Bob!" The colored man came grinning. "Lawdy, you sho do dress up, suh. You lookin' fo' Miss Peaches?"

Calculus ordinarily didn't commit such blunders, but he was unaware of Bob's newest move in society. Bob Towne and Peaches Pomeroy had been seen together constantly for two years now. Calculus' assumption was a natural one.

* * *

The darkey's perceptions were keen, however. He caught instantly the gleam in Bob's eyes. "Oh me, I done done somethin'!" he muttered, retreating. But Bob was in no mood for anger.

"Can you and Cleopatra hold down the cottage while I take Sara Sue to a dance, Calculus?"

The colored man's eyes widened. He hadn't thought of that, hadn't thought of possible romance between Sara Sue and Bob. But suddenly the idea struck him as something entirely perfect, and his promises were attended by broad grins and much enthusiasm. He would, indeed, take charge of the cottage until Miss Sara Sue returned. (Quite incidentally, he would see to it that everybody he contacted learned the latest campus news—that popular Bob Towne was now courting the new widow Davis. Of such was the essence of life, to Calculus Jones).

* * *

Bob Towne had rented a car for the evening. He proved such a good driver and such a good companion that Sara Sue relaxed quite noticeably and enjoyed herself. She had been keyed up for three or four days anyway. And she had accepted no companionship of this sort for a long, long time. Suddenly she laughed,

"Joke?" Bob asked.

"No. I was just thinking—this is the first date I have had in five years!"

He knew her history now. Knew the tragedy that had touched her life four years ago.

"And you can laugh happily now. Fine!" He said it seriously, gently.

"I really am enjoying myself, Mr. Towne. I needed this."

He took her to the Southerner hotel for an hour. But the orchestra was overdoing the fad of being swingy, and they went for a ride again, out toward Houston Heights. Autumn had begun to hint of its approach in south Texas and the air was invigorating. They drove out a country road. They talked and talked, and rode some more, fast but not too fast, and then a cow ambled from a brush patch and caught the front of Bob's rented car with her hip.

Nothing tragic happened, save to the cow.

She was injured, and had to be killed after Bob had reported to the farmhouse nearby. Then Bob wanted to go east when the right wheel headed west. Their disagreement required a tow car, and attendant delay.

* * *

The excitement broke down any reserve of strangeness between the boy and girl so that by midnight they were conversing more freely than ever, and she was calling him by his first name. And, in any event, Bob Towne was an easy man to get acquainted with.

At a quarter of one—almost two hours past Bob's bedtime—they arrived in a taxicab back to Sara Sue's cottage.

"Well!" she breathed. "It has been a whirlwind evening!"

"I'm sorry again. And thankful you weren't hurt."

"We were lucky. And since nobody was hurt, it was really a fine time. I enjoyed the dancing, and the ride. You're a lot of fun, Bob."

"Thanks, Sara Sue. And—"

"And what? Hadn't you better hurry to bed? The football coach will be put out."

Bob laughed at her. He was holding both her hands now, on her front entry porch. He looked down at her, smiling, drinking in her fresh young beauty.

"Nobody would ever know you were a widow," he whispered.

All at once he stopped and kissed her, full on the lips. Then ran to his taxicab and was whisked away.

She watched the taxi tail light turn into the gate toward the Rice dormitories, and stood there another full minute considering the strange emotions that had encompassed her.

When she finally went inside, she knew, for sure, that she really was a widow after all. Even a somewhat "mature" one.

Mother, Mix Your Own Cough Remedy. It's Better

Quick, Comforting Relief. Saves Money. Easily Mixed.

No matter what you might spend for medicine, you couldn't get quicker, better relief from coughs that start from colds than this simple home mixture gives. It takes but a moment to prepare—it's so easy a child could do it. And it saves real money.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour, this into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really splendid cough remedy and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time and children love its taste.

And for quick, blessed relief, you'll say it is truly wonderful. It has a remarkable action. It loosen the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages.

Pinex is a concentrated compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

C. OF C. ELECTS NINE TO BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Four New Members Chosen in Balloting, Five Renamed for Two-Year Terms.

The election of nine members to the board of directors of the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce was announced today by Paul W. Williams, secretary-manager.

They were chosen from a group of 20 nominated by the membership two weeks ago. Four new directors were chosen for two-year terms along with five others who were re-elected. They will serve with 12 others whose terms do not expire until next year.

C. M. Crafton, recently re-elected president of the Mansfield Retail Merchants association, also remains on the board by virtue of his office.

New members to the board are James M. Hill, M. W. Hieber, R. G. Fensch and H. G. Miller. Those re-elected are P. M. Eliot, L. Ott, H. G. Balyeat, W. C. Mead, and W. A. Springer.

Other directors whose terms do not expire until 1939, are H. W. Arlin, W. A. Bowers, F. A. Chamberlin, J. S. Hattery, C. H. Henkel, R. E. Hutchison, C H. Huston, O. C. McCormick, A. C. Rhoades, G. W. Stephens, C. L. VanDerau, L. J. Washburn and Crafton.

Reorganization of the board of directors and the election of officers will be held within the next few days, Williams said.

Present officers of the chamber are Judge Huston, president; Arlin, first vice president, Crafton, second vice president, and Bowers, treasurer

Meanwhile Williams said that tickets were mailed to the membership today for the second in a series of membership dinner meetings which will be held at 6.30 p. m. next Tuesday at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Henry W. Stanley of Pittsburgh will be the principal speaker. He will talk on "Trade Expansion."

Stanley, a nationally recognized authority on economics and business administration, is trade extension director for the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce.

Widow of Dodge Seeking $33,000 Monthly Expenses

PONTIAC, Mich.—(U.P.)—A 19-year-old widow who less than a year ago was earning $18 a week as the village telephone operator at Gore Bay, Ont., today sought "living expenses" of $33,000 a month from the motor millions of her late husband, Daniel Dodge.

A hearing was scheduled today on the request of Mrs. Annie Laurine MacDonald Dodge that she be granted the funds to permit her to live in keeping "with the Dodge fortune and family tradition," during litigation over her husband's will.

Paul Oren, attorney for Mrs. Dodge, expected that the request would be opposed by Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson, Dodge's mother, who received the bulk of her son's $10,000,000 estate, while the widow received only $250,000 through a pre-marital agreement.

Dodge was drowned in Georgian bay while on his honeymoon last Aug. 15.

GOLD OUTPUT UP

CANBERRA — (U.P.) — Australia produced more gold last year than in any year since 1917, according to official figures issued here. The production was valued at $47,947,440, nearly $7,500,000 more than the 1936 yield.

WINS CONTEST

BUCYRUS — Miss Doris Cress will represent Bucyrus in the county Prince of Peace declamation contest to be held within two weeks by virtue of winning the Bucyrus contest held in Church of Christ Sunday.

Other local contestants were Martha Ann Lown, representing First Methodist church, who will serve as alternate; Betty Gorsuch, Dortha Stuckert and Charles Ross.

The contest was sponsored by the Ohio Council of Churches.

CYCLISTS PAY IN FRANCE

PARIS—(U.P.)—France has 8,000,000 cyclists and they pay $2,800,000 to the state as a tax on their machines.

BURIED TODAY

GALION—Interment was made in Fairview cemetery here this afternoon for Edward I. Fissel, 74, former Galion resident, who died Saturday at his home in Akron. He had been ill one week after he suffered a cerebral hemorrhage.

The body was brought to the Snyder funeral home this morning at 11 o'clock.

Mr. Fissel was born in Galion, the son of Elias and Permelia (Jackson) Fissel, and his father was one of Galion's leading carpenters for a number of years.

Loans to farmers from production credit associations were reported at a five-year high of $183,000,000 at the mid-point of the 1938 financing season.

POPE GAINS IN HEALTH, KEEPS BUSY SCHEDULE

Loses Considerable Weight But Says He Feels Better Than Before Illness.

(By United Press)

VATICAN CITY.— The United Press learns that Pope Pius has changed a great deal since his recent illness. He has lost much weight, but feels well. He is less stern and formal.

The pontiff was critically ill for months. Due to varicose veins it was almost impossible for him to move his legs. When he began to recover, he went to the papal summer residence at Castel Gandolfo for a period of recuperation and only recently returned to the vatican.

He lost much weight during his illness. The exact amount is uncertain because the pope declines to be weighed. His clothes fit loosely now, and vatican funactionaries on several occasions have suggested that he have new ones made. He remarked to one aide that he preferred the clothing he now has because, although large, it is more comfortable.

Less Stern, Formal.

His attitude toward officials at the vatican also has undergone a change. In the past he was known as stern and formal—something of a task-master. Sometimes he spoke sharply when he felt that work had not been done properly. He worked long hours himself. He never complained of ailments and discouraged complaints by others.

Since his illness, the pontiff has shown much greater interest in the personal problems of his intimate collaborators without in any way lessening his desire that all energies be devoted to carrying on official duties at the Vatican.

There is less of the stern formality about his relations with his colleagues. Frequently he remarks to close friends that he feels even better than before his illness.

Nevertheless, the pontiff still works from 14 to 16 hours a day. He rejects the advice of his aides that he should reduce the daily routine; that he should rest longer each day.

To some of his intimates, he has said when the time comes he wants to die while at his work.

The pope is unusually active for a man of his 81 years and has stupendous energy. He still receives in private audience from four to eight persons each day before holding larger public audiences.

NOTICE TO BREAD DEALERS

MAGNETIC METAL 'SHIVERS'; IT TURNS ON HEAT WHEN NEEDED

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—A new magnetic metal that can "shiver" and turn on the heat has been announced at the Battelle Memorial institute.

The shivering of this metal consists in losing its magnetism.

It can be made to do this at any temperature from 150 below zero to 1100 above.

This makes possible use of magnets of the new alloy for numerous automatic controls. Losing or regaining their magnetism, they operate electric switches.

They can be made to turn on the heat at 50, and shut it off when the temperature again rises. Unlike humans, they can be fixed to "shiver" when everything else is burning up.

They will turn on a fan at 90, start a fire sprinkler or sound a fire alarm, control refrigeration and air conditioning. They will protect electrical machinery from overheating at any temperature up to red heat by "shivering" and shutting off the power.

The alloy is a mixture of iron, nickel, chromium and silicon. By varying the proportions of these metals, magnets can be made to respond to any desired temperatures. The alloy was developed by L. R. Jackson, metallurgist, and H. W. Russell, chief physicist of the institute. A report on it appears today in the November issue of the Technical Journal of Instruments.

The development is based on a discovery in 1600 that iron when red hot loses its magnetism. Later it was found that different magnetic metals lost magnetism at widely differing temperatures. This change is called the curie point, after Pierre Curie, joint discoverer of radium, who studied the magnetism phenomenon.

Recently scientists have been making metals with Curie points to respond to certain dangerous temperatures in electrical machinery. The new alloy is unique in its wide range. It is reported as the first that is easy to machine and forge. It is readily proportioned to respond exactly at any desired temperature.

The Battelle investigation was sponsored by the Utilities Coordinated Research, Ind., of Detroit, a cooperative research organization of a group of electric utility companies.

MOVIE CREATES NEW PROBLEM IN BOY'S TOWN

Expected Donations as Result Of Film Not Received; They Drop Instead.

(By United Press)

OMAHA, Neb. — The much-talked-about film, "Boys Town," produced by M-G-M has proved a financial flop as far as Father E. J. Flanagan is concerned.

It might have been better if he had gone on dreaming about a cinema of his city of little men, Boys Town, Neb., of which he is the founder—for ever since the movie has been shown, home donations have dropped considerably instead of soaring as he had expected.

The picture told of Father Flanagan's plans for new buildings—plans calling for a building program that would cost around $1,500,000, but there is one hitch in the setup—no funds.

More Seek Admittance.

The picture itself, aside from its box office attraction, has had one definite result: It has reached the ears of many a youth throughout the country that the home of "little men" is a place of rest and peace and now they're coming intermittently wanting to be admitted.

Father Flanagan offers two reasons to explain the sudden decline in donations to the home. He believes that people seeing the picture reason that an orphanage famous enough to be the subject of a movie must be a wealthy institution that does not need funds.

When M-G-M representatives first offered Father Flanagan $5,000 for whatever film rights he might have to his name and home, he accepted. Actually, movie producers and Father Flanagan were a bit uncertain as to what the financial outcome of the picture might be. But after spending nearly $1,000,000 in producing the movie, it proved to be a box office hit.

All Obligations Met.

Father Flanagan definitely does not believe that the studio owes him anything. His only disappointment is that the film did not spur donations as he had expected.

The building plans for Boys Town have increased the capacity from the present 200 to approximately 600. Four new dormitories, to cost $1,500,000, would accommodate 130 boys each. The status of the building plans is uncertain now, according to Father Flanagan.

Boys Town has no debt and little money. There is a $50,000 trust fund, from which only the income may be used. Receipts so far this year have been approximately $5,000 under those for a similar period last year.

TOMORROW'S LAST DAY TO MAIL GIFTS TO SOME FOREIGN LANDS

Mansfielders interested in the activities of Santa Claus in some foreign countries better have their gifts all ready and wrapped and in the mail before Thanksgiving day if they expect their gifts to be delivered on Christmas, Herman Homberger, postmaster, warned today.

Gifts and cards intended for residents of at least a dozen distant countries, must be in the mails leaving Mansfield no later than Nov. 24, under U. S. postal schedules.

Persons who wish Christmas mails or parcels to reach anyone in Australia, Hong Kong, Manchuria, Philippine Islands, Strait Settlements, Azores, Ceylon, Capre Verde Islands, British India, South Africa, Liberia, or Siberia, must have their packages or greetings in the Mansfield postoffice before Thanksgiving, Homberger said.

However, Mansfielders with friends in Argentina, Bolivia, Cyprus, Chile, Ecuador, Egypt, British or French Guiana, Iran, Paraguay, Palestine, Peru, or Uruguay may mail cards or gifts until Nov. 30, and in a few cases until Dec. 1, with Yuletide greetings or gifts.

The deadline for mails from Mansfield to Colombia, Nicaragua and Turks Island is Dec. 6, and Dec. 7 is the last day for local mail to Barbados, Brazil, Bulgaria, Danzig, Denmark, Finland, Greece, Grenda, Guadelope, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Madeira, Malta, Martinique, Norway, Portugal, Rumania, St. Kitts, Sweden, Syria, Trinidad, Turkey, Yugoslavia, and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

Spain, which is in the throes of a civil war, has no parcel post service, but letters and cards addressed there must be mailed not later than Dec. 7.

The deadline for mail to Costa Rica, Honduras, Guatemala or El Salvador is Dec. 9, and letters to Italy and Gibraltar must leave here on Dec. 11 in order to make New York sailings.

Poland, France, Scotland, Switzerland, Germany, Haiti, Ireland, Eire, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, England, the Netherlands and Estonia will receive parcels, cards and letters from Mansfield in time for Christmas if they are mailed before Dec. 13, while those with seasons greetings for inhabitants of the Bahamas, Bermuda, Canal Zone, Curacao, Newfoundland, Panama, Venezuela, or Puerto Rico can wait one day longer. The last mail for Cuba in time for Christmas is Dec. 17.

WHISTLE SAVES TIME

SPLINTER BOATS SAIL AND FIGHT AGAIN

PROBABLY the most remarkable exploit in naval history was the formation of the famous "splinter fleet" which fought the submarines to a standstill. Manned by crews recruited from civilian tanks, these tiny, wooden ships fought some of the most thrilling battles of the World War. The story of their heroic crews has been told in the 20th Century-Fox picture "Submarine Patrol," directed by John Ford with Richard Greene, Nancy Kelly, George Bancroft and Preston Foster among its leading players. Here are a few scenes from this real-life drama, showing some of the high spots in the careers of the "splinter fleet," "discovered" by the motion pictures for the first time by Production Chief Darryl F. Zanuck.

You're in the Navy now! The "fresh water sailors" of the Submarine Patrol get their first taste of discipline at "bag inspection." Preston Foster is the hard-boiled officer, giving his sharp attention to Richard Greene, the ship's engineer.

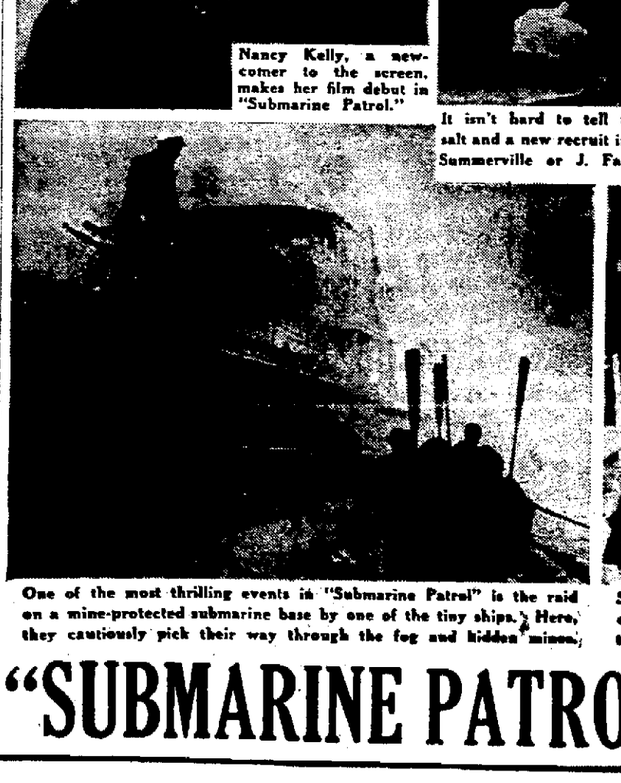
But they needed no instruction in how to win the favor of a pretty girl, these Submarine Patrol men. Here Richard Greene seems doing well with pretty Nancy Kelly.

Nancy Kelly, a newcomer to the screen, makes her film debut in "Submarine Patrol."

But, new though they were, the Submarine Patrol men could "take it" under fire, as shown.

Sea-going fathers are just like any other fathers—sometimes they don't approve. Richard Greene gets told where he heads in by George Bancroft, who plays the role of Nancy Kelly's father.

Convoying ammunition ships through the submarine zone was the work of the Submarine Patrol. Here's a scene of the "splinter boats" and a convoy at sea.



It isn't hard to tell the difference between a veteran salt and a new recruit in a heavy sea. Guess whether Slim Summerville or J. Farrell MacDonald is the old salt.

One of the most thrilling events in "Submarine Patrol" is the raid on a mine-protected submarine base by one of the tiny ships. Here, they cautiously pick their way through the fog and hidden mines.

Sometimes, the recruits found their guns more dangerous to themselves than to the enemy. Here's a scene when the Submarine Patrol boat's gun went off by accident.
